Sometimes when the goin's tough, and you feel like there isn't a silver lining anywhere, you get a letter from someone who needs help a lot worse than you do, then the picture changes and your own troubles diminish while your sympathy increases for the friend in need. By comparison we get a truer and closer picture of our own condition. Trouble with most of us is that when we get those appeals we are unable to give the response which our heart approves.

About the only reason I would care to go to congress for, would be for ten thousand dollars.

You might just as well get your license plates early as late. Much better to get them early than too late. It will cost you less. If you start rolling the old bus has been reached, you won't enjoy the motoring nearly so much as if you had the accredited plates in front and on the rear of your car.

It looks like rain, but that isn't what we want. We want rain.

In a local business institution the old axiom that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" is a rule. Signs are ready at a moment's notice to use "the other entrance." That's when the wind blows in from the desert.

Immediately after Christmas I was convinced that every child in town able to ride a bicycle had one, and some who were not able to ride. I haven't changed my mind.

If you were in the midst of this time of the year you would probably be talking about the January thaw. In California you are probably thinking about a January freeze.

Well, how about it. Has the New Year resolution folded up?

And then comes a friend home from the "Garden of Allah," the time right in our own back-yard, with a poetic setting. What convinces me it is poetic is the extract from the "Rubaiyat" which contains Omar Khayyam's soulful meditation: "Why, if the soul can fling itself aside, and naked on the air of Heaven ride—why, not a shame for him in this clay carcase crippled to abide?" It seems like the soul responds to the sentimental, whether the setting is in India or Seal Beach. This time Seal Beach.

And it was Harry Lauder who sent a Christmas card to his Santa Ana Scotch friend, with an envelope flap nicely tucked in so he could save cent and a half postage.

Sometimes when I am crossing the street I wish I belonged to the canine family. Notice that automobile drivers will stop for a dog when they won't for a pedestrian, and you don't have to have a pedigree. I'm going to have 'em put me on a leash.

"And," says a good friend, "you can't stop 'em from calling it a Santa Ana wind, so why not call it a congressional wind. It subsided immediately upon the adjournment of congress."

I hope that times are better, and will continue to get better, but when I notice the line-up at the Salvation Army headquarters along about time so eat, it sort of looks like the recession was starting.

George Gould takes what looks to me like a handful of dirt, puts it in a saucer and then pours water over it, keeps the saucer in motion and the dirt gradually evaporates. The floating particles he pushes out of the container, and finally gets down to a black substance which he says is cinabar, the basis of quicksilver. There you have something which is used in medicine and the arts. It is the common name of the metal mercury. Now all I need to do is to have some one find quicksilver on my nut farm. I'm in the mood to change.

UNION TRIES TO ORGANIZE MILK DRIVERS

Excelsior Men Turn Down Terms, Report

Approximately 30 Excelsior Creamery employees at a meeting this morning generally agreed they had no intention of joining the A. F. of L. teamster's union after listening to the proposition set forth by the union at a session of some 50 workers held in labor temple last Thursday evening.

In a report read to the employees this morning, which company officials said was drawn up by their workers, the union organizers are said to have told the Excelsior workers "they intend to make it impossible for any one to get a job unless he carries a union card, and likewise will place a boycott on all meat markets, cafes and grocery stores handling Excelsior products" — unless the creamery workers join up.

DENIAL ISSUED
Denial was made later today by T. H. Jones, secretary-treasurer of the "Teamsters" union, that a boy-

CAMPAIGN FOR NEW J. C. OPENS

Opening action in the impending campaign for a new junior college will be taken a week from Monday.

President George Wells of the board of education today called the joint citizens-school board committee for its first conference, to be held at noon on that day, in the Santa Ana High school cafeteria.

Preliminary estimates of type of plant needed, size of investment and possibilities of money-raising efforts will be discussed.

Named last March, a fact-finding committee composed of Alex Brownridge, Plummer B. R. N. George Duntan and A. N. Zerman will report of education committee consists of Dr. Margaret E. Baker, Superintendent Frank Henderson, D. K. Hammond and Wells.

DOLLAR LINE GETS SUBSIDY

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Maritime Commission Chairman Joseph Kennedy headed today for a survey of Los Angeles shipping after arranging necessary financial aid for a major shipping firm here.

Kennedy, who warned that unsettled maritime labor conditions present the coast's major shipping problem, revealed he had arranged an operating subsidy sufficient to permit running of the Dollar Line ships through June.

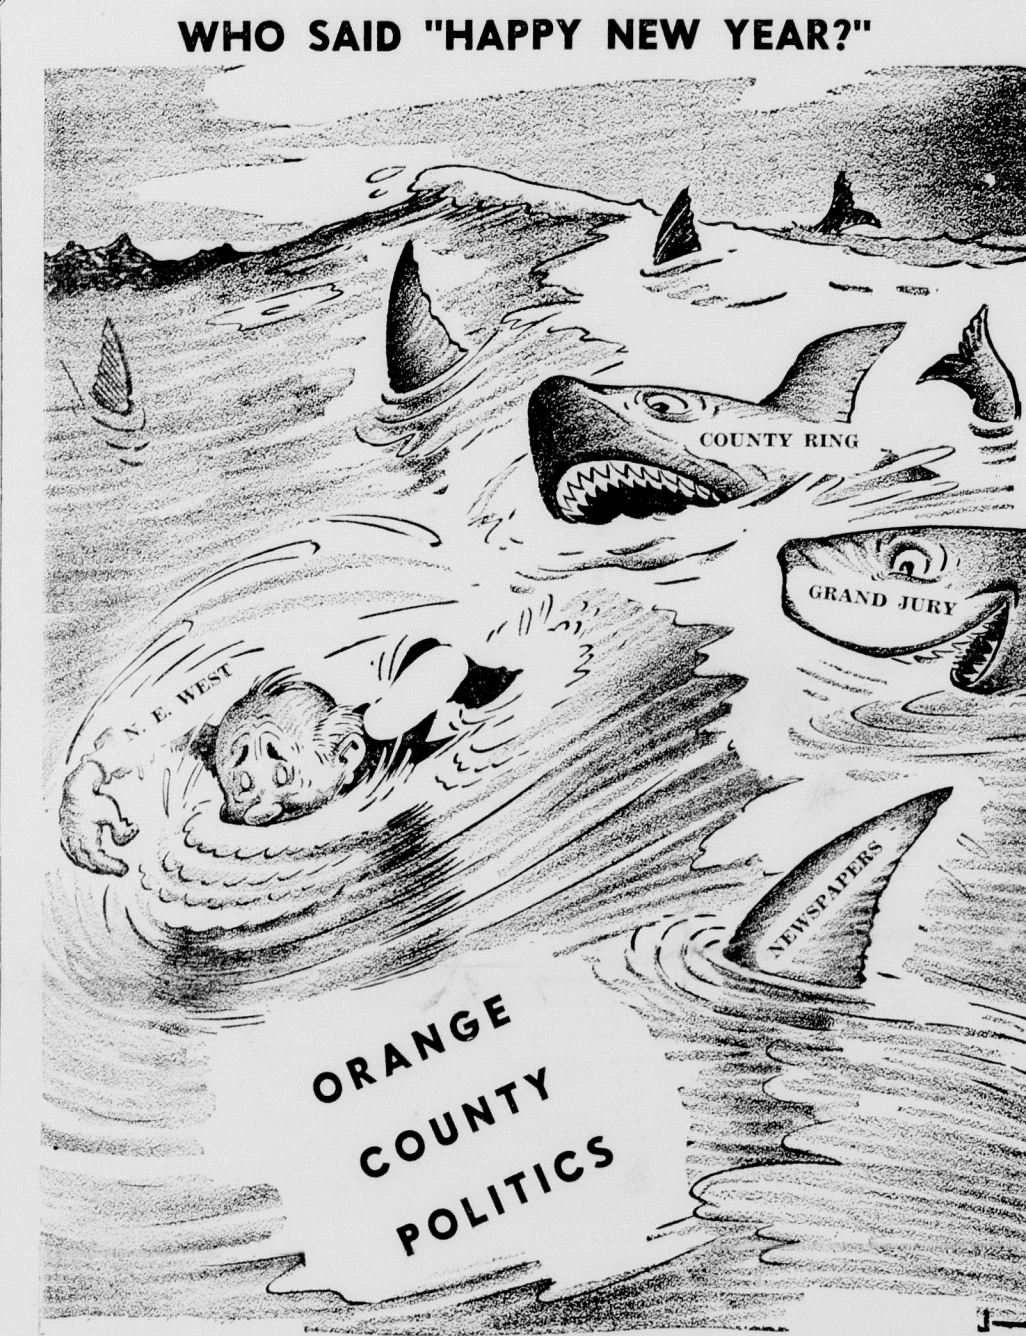

Chamber Directors To Meet Tuesday

Three important matters of business will be taken up at a Chamber of Commerce directors meeting to be held at the local office next Tuesday at 9:30 a. m., according to Secretary Howard Wood.

Preparations will be made for the semi-annual dollar day and the election of a chairman and executive council of the retail division is to occur. Finally, decision will be made upon the program of retail events for 1938.

Bacon Names Five On Committee

Rodney Bacon, chairman of the chamber of commerce "What Helps Business Committee," announced today names of five local men who will serve on a special sub-committee of the group. The men selected are Major M. B. Wellington, chairman, Ray Goodell, W. H. Spurgeon, F. E. Ronsholdt and Phil Brown.

AWAIT FDR JACKSON TALK

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt's Jackson day dinner speech tonight may clarify administration policy as to future government relations with business.

Mr. Roosevelt has given no hint of what subject he intends to take, but there was speculation that he might decide it was a fitting occasion for further enunciation of his views toward business.

It was recalled that in his message to congress last Monday he said while discussing monopoly: "The work undertaken by Andrew Jackson and Woodrow Wilson is not finished yet."

The past two weeks admittedly left industrial leaders confused despite the evidence of a conciliatory attitude most observers found in the President's two messages to congress and recent press conference statements.

This uncertainty was attested yesterday by Robert E. Wool, president of Sears, Roebuck and company, in testimony before the senate unemployment committee.

Wood said the President's opening message to congress had been "reassuring," but that "business doesn't know what to expect" in view of previous speeches by Secretary Ickes and Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson. In harsh language, Ickes and Jackson accused business of going "on strike" against the government.

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—Renewed faint hope that the crew of seven aboard the missing navy twin-motored bombing plane may still be alive came today as naval authorities discounted the possibility a patch of oil and a piece of a life preserver found at sea was from the missing craft.

Examination of a sample of the oil and the life ring fragment showed, they said, it was not from the giant seaplane that was last reported Wednesday. It also was learned, authorities said, that the oil patch was discovered by a

Three Thieves Lashed at Whipping Post

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—Three convicted robbers, with bare backs, squirmed at the public whipping post today while a prison warden applied the first lashes of the new year under a 250-year-old Delaware law.

Two were tied to the solid "pillar of the law" in the yard of the New Castle county workhouse and flogged for stealing an automobile while the third received similar punishment for the theft of seven watches and a small steel safe.

Warden Elwood H. Wilson administered 20 lashes to Raymond Shrevebrooks, 21; 10 to David Otavani, 20 and five to Arthur Spain, 21.

Cardenas to Visit Expropriated Spa

AGUA CALIENTE. (AP)—Agua Caliente's troubled residents, including 400 workers occupying the expropriated $10,000,000 resort, looked forward today to a promised visit from President Lazaro Cardenas of Mexico.

Luis Chavez Orozco, federal undersecretary of education directing plans for turning the resort into an industrial school, said President Cardenas should reach here in about three weeks.

3 MILLION ON PART JOBS

WASHINGTON. (AP)—John D. Biggers, director of the unemployment census, reported to President Roosevelt today the November voluntary count of jobless showed 3,200,000 persons were partly employed and wanted more work.

The report was the second in a series made by Biggers. The first, a week ago, showed a total of 7,822,912 to 10,870,000 persons were out of work in November.

The state department estimated 1,250,000 aliens have been barred from this country and kept off the labor market since Oct. 1, 1930, through enforcement by consular officers of "the excluding provisions of the immigration laws in the light of the existing unemployment situation" in this country.

Balanced Budget Seen for State

SAN DIEGO. (AP)—State Controller Harry B. Riley expects California's budget to be balanced by next August. He told a civic club audience, in making the prediction that the present deficit of more than $17,000,000 would be eliminated, that he would recommend tax reductions.

that the missing 25-ton, twin-engined bomber was capable of landing in and riding heavy seas for days, and that there were emergency rations aboard, together with a still to convert ocean water into drinking water.

Against this was the fact the bomber had an auxiliary radio and nothing had been heard from the crew since it reported all was well at 5 p. m. Wednesday, and that the plane was then about 200 miles northwest of San Diego, its base.

TROOPS NEAR BATTLE IN SHANGHAI

Attack on Policeman Brings Protest

SHANGHAI. (AP)—Japanese guns were trained on French concessions within the French concession for an hour today as an American official of the Shanghai municipal council protested repeated Japanese assaults on settlement police.

The international incident was the second in two days in which Japanese forces attacked police in the foreign areas.

A French concession policeman, of Russian nationality, was struck in the face by a Japanese soldier. The policeman had intervened to prevent the soldier from beating a Chinese woman attempting to escape from Nantao into the French concession for water.

TANKS RUSHED
Other Japanese soldiers tried to drag the policeman across the boundary into Nantao. When he fled, the Japanese ranged rifles and machine guns along the concession border. French armored cars were brought up to reinforce the frontier.

U. S.-BRITAIN PACT NEARS

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The United States and Great Britain moved today toward the final stages of a significant commercial accord climaxing Secretary Hull's foreign trade program.

The proposed pact will involve a globe-girdling market. It will embrace not only Britain but her far-flung colonial empire and Newfoundland. Only India, the dominions and Ireland will be excluded.

Actual negotiation of the agreement, designed to achieve mutual tariff concessions, will begin as soon as American interests have made known their views concerning specific items of commerce.

British and American economic experts have been engaged for more than a year in preliminary work on the project, agreement. A British trade mission will come here next month to conduct the final parleys.

COLD WAVE HITS NATION

(By the Associated Press)

Sub-freezing weather spread over most of the South today, moving in from the Great Lakes region. Lower temperatures generally were forecast for tonight.

The cold wave extended as far south as Pensacola, Fla., Shreveport, La., and Dallas, Tex., where the minimum readings were 22. Snow fell in Montana and North Dakota. Some sections of the East escaped the freezing weather, but it was below at Winnipeg, Canada; 24 below at Huron, S. D., and 20 below at Morehead, Minn.

Snow flurries were expected in Northwest Virginia. Heavy frost and temperatures of 26 to 32 were forecast for Northern Florida where the frost probably will reach the central portion of the state.

New Plan Adopted For Letting Oil, Printing Contracts

"Combinations" of bidders which have dealt out hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of county business in past years were doomed today.

On two fronts policies were announced which are intended to stop agreements and associations and put all important county contracts on a competitive bidding basis. Purchasing Agent Eugene Fenelon said today he will inaugurate a bidding policy on county printing, which costs tens of thousands of dollars each year, rather than having the work parceled out by printers and weekly newspaper publishers.

G. O. P. PLANS 'STREAMLINE' CONVENTION

Rider for Republican 'Warhorse' Selected

Nineteenth district Republicans will convene in their "streamlined" convention April 23 to pick an opponent to meet Rep. Harry Sheppard at the polls in November.

Place of the convention is not yet fixed, but will be selected soon by chairman of the three county central committees in the district, composed of Riverside, San Bernardino and Orange counties.

The date was set last night at a meeting of the nine-man district committee in Riverside, at which progress in organizational work was reported.

One full-time organizer already is at work in San Bernardino county, and two organizers are working in each of the other two counties.

The convention is planned as a revival of the convention system of selecting candidates, although not intended to replace the party primary.

Next meeting of the district committee will be Jan. 28 in Santa Ana.

LAND MAY GET MARITIME JOB

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Friends of Rear Admiral Emory S. Land revived today his possible appointment to the chairmanship of the maritime commission, to succeed Joseph P. Kennedy.

President Roosevelt nominated Kennedy yesterday to be ambassador to Great Britain, leaving open the $12,000 a year post which Kennedy once referred to as the "toughest job" he had ever filled.

Land, retired chief of the navy's bureau of construction and repair, has been a member of the maritime commission since last April. His name has been discussed for the chairmanship since Kennedy's ambassadorial appointment was first rumored.

Moore Scores in Store Sales Case

Walter L. Moore, owner of the Moore building at Fourth and Broadway, today had won the first round of his court fight to force payment of a percentage of sales made by Vandermast, Inc., Santa Ana clothing firm.

A Vandermast demurrer to Moore's amended complaint was overruled yesterday by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel, who gave the defendants 30 days to file an answer. A motion to strike parts of the complaint was denied.

Moore charges that the Vandermasts moved part of their stock to a new location to escape terms of a contract which gave him a percentage of the clothing store's sales as rent for a store in his building.

Italy Rushes Navy Program

ROME. (AP)—Italy intends to rush her ambitious warship building program so as to have the new vessels in the water a full year before completion of the recently approved American, British and French programs.

Naval experts asserted in newspaper articles today that "fascist organization" and "alacrity of fascist workers" would guarantee the project's completion by 1940-41.

Printing for Letting Oil, Contracts

Printing for the past three years has been parceled out by representatives of a job printers' association and heads of weekly newspapers which maintain printing establishments. A. W. McBride of La Habra has been "dealer" for the newspapermen and A. G. Flagg of Santa Ana has had the parcelling out of business among printers. Some printers and some newspapers are not represented in the associations.

It will mean more work for our office," said Fenelon. "To get bids and award jobs, but it seems to me the fair thing to do. Our bidders will be Orange county printers, and the larger jobs will be awarded on a strictly competitive basis.

"On smaller jobs, where the work is needed immediately, we will be able to see which establishments have been charging the most consistently fair prices, and where there is need of haste the job can be awarded quickly and efficiently."

On oil contracts, a number of distributors have been submitting identical bids. It was reported on good authority. To discourage this practice, purchases may be made outside the list of bidders if the setup seems unsatisfactory to supervisors.

Both moves are in conformity with the supervisors' purchasing policy, advocated for years by Supervisor N. E. West and brought to a head through the "typewriter case" in which the policy of distributing business among various firms was at stake.

SUIT AGAINST ABBEY SET OVER

A court fight by Mrs. Edna M. Schwiager for removal of Public Administrator Earl Abbey as administrator of a $10,500 estate had been continued today until Jan. 21.

H. J. Herring and M. L. Herring, brothers of the late Joseph M. Herring, whose estate is the subject of the battle, will arrive here Monday.

Abbey holds special letters of administration in the estate, and both he and Mrs. Schwiager have petitioned for appointment as administrators. She has objected to Abbey's appointment, charging he was interested in the estate solely for fees and commissions, and objecting to his charge that she is not a bona fide resident of this state.

RAGGED INSURGENT DEFENDING ARMY SURRENDERS IN TERUEL

2000 GIVE UP FIGHT IN OLD CAPITAL

Thirst, Hunger Bring End to Valiant Stand

MADRID. (AP)—The agonies of thirst, of cold and of hunger in embattled Teruel today forced the surrender of the last of the 2000 ragged insurgent soldiers and their wailing and weakened women and children.

For 17 days they stood against government guns, fire and dynamite in guerrilla warfare, from building to building through the narrow and twisting streets of the old provincial capital, 160 miles East of Madrid.

RESCUE FAILS

A reinforced insurgent army outside the city fought in vain to come to their rescue, and they bowed at last to the hardship of siege against their hideouts in Asuncion hospital and the dynamite-wrecked Santa Clara church. The unsuccessful rescuing army itself was encountering trouble—230 insurgents were captured during the battle about Muela, De Teruel, outside Teruel, the government said.

The capitulation was in sharp contrast to a previous dramatic siege—when about 1700 insurgent troops and their kin were rescued by comrades after nearly 10 weeks of government siege against their fortress, the Toledo Alcazar, in 1936.

CAPTURE BASE

A government communique announced surrender of the Teruel garrison, trapped in the city by a sudden offensive of the Madrid army on Dec. 21. Teruel had been an important insurgent base for most of the nearly 18 months of civil war.

Lieut. Col. Rey D'Harcourt, commander, led 1500 of his troops, 500 women and children, aged and wounded from the hospital. Thirty-four insurgent soldiers surrendered from Santa Clara church.

Many were ill. They had not eaten for a week. Emerging in groups of six, under a promise of safety as prisoners, all asked first for water. A number who had been underground during the siege fainted. Their condition was pitiable, the government commander reported, and many were wounded. Some were unable to walk.

NO END SEEN IN FILIBUSTER

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Senators waging a parliamentary battle against the anti-lynching bill said today they had enough votes to bring the measure to a vote, but they are postponing the filibustering tactics indefinitely.

Majority leader Barkley of Kentucky held out the threat of night sessions to choke off their oratory, but not even that, they said, could upset their schedule. At the same time some Southern representatives who played a major part in sidetracking the administration's wage-hour bill at the special session disclosed today they were drafting a labor standards bill of their own, providing a system under which a majority of operators in any one industry would be empowered to determine whether their standards needed federal regulation.

Congressional leaders also announced they hoped to have an "ever-normal granary" bill ready for final action within a week or 10 days.

Good evening. Have you got your income tax blank? And did I hear some old grouch say yes, and it's none of your business. Used to kick the same way about it, but all over it now. When you pay income tax you've made a profit. If you do not pay income tax what have you made?

Patrons of institutions where ingress and egress doors have been installed, would be able to avoid collisions if the "in" door automatically looked when the "in" patron cleared the threshold. That would force the flow to the "egress" door, or else you could stay all night. The architect put in two doors so the public movement would not be interrupted, but he did not take into account "his public." Most of them want to go in and get out the same door they go in. Hence the congestion. This item won't change the custom, but it gave me something to talk about.

ATTACK BRINGS JAPAN CRISIS

uous protests were lodged with Suemasa Okamoto, Japanese consul general, by Cornell S. Franklin, its American chairman.

After two British soldiers were beaten yesterday, British Commander Major General A. F. D. Telfer-Smollet protested the British incident, and French officials were strongly considering a formal protest to Japanese today.

SLUGS POLICEMEN
The British policemen were slugged by Japanese soldiers in an asserted invasion of the British defense zone of the international settlement.

Telfer-Smollet was reported to have warned Japanese military officials that a recurrence might bring "gravest consequences." Rough handling of the policemen provoked sharp press criticism of Japan in London. The Daily Express went so far as to predict that diplomatic relations might be severed by Britain. The foreign office awaited an official report.

DEFENSE LINE

Meanwhile, the fury of the war centered 400 miles to the north-west of Shanghai along the East-West Lunghai railway, China's "last line of defense."

Japanese reported capture of Tsoehsien, 90 miles north of the important railway junction, Su-chow, was the birthplace of the philosopher Mencius. Chinese denied its loss.

Japanese also reported capture of Yenchow and Tsinling in a drive down the Tientsin-Pukow railway.

Domel (Japanese news agency) describing the steamer as mysterious, said the captain, master and engineer officers were being held at Yokohama. Domel first reported the 3827-ton freighter had been held up and examined after running into a Japanese fishing net.

Hero Rescues Pair Paralyzed On Train Track

REDWOOD CITY. (AP)—Vernon Laveroni, 27, of Palo Alto, and Sophie Meyer, 25, Mountain View, too paralyzed from fright to climb out of their automobile when it stalled on the Southern Pacific tracks here, were saved from sudden death last night by a quick-acting flagman.

The flagman set off flares that stopped both southbound and northbound trains as they bore down on the helpless couple.

'Whispers' Used In Gold Case

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—For the first time in the history of federal court hearings in San Francisco, prosecutors expected today to present a wax record of whispering over a telephone wire as evidence in a criminal trial.

Federal Judge Harold Louderback allowed introduction of the telephone recordings yesterday in a ruling in the trial of Harry Beatty, Louis Boyer, William R. Irwin and M. H. Small, Los Angeles men, accused of dealing in stolen gold from the Maryland mine at Grass valley.

cott will be placed upon the dairy. Jones said "there is no boycott on Excelsior products at present and before such action is taken the teamsters must vote upon the matter and then submit it to the Central Labor council for their approval." The owners of the dairy would then be approached by the union before final action was taken, he added.

"We do, however, request all union members to purchase only union products," Jones explained, "but this applies to not only dairy products, but everything which they purchase."

SESSION ORDERLY

The meeting Thursday evening at the Labor temple, at which about 50 Excelsior employees attended, was said by Jones to have been for the purpose of acquainting the men with the purpose of the organization of raising the wages and lowering the hours and they were asked only to consider the proposition. Jones affirmed the session was orderly.

The employees' report at the dairy this morning described the union sessions as follows: "The employees, thoroughly disgusted with the tactics of the union organizers, and tired of listening to their unsound arguments generously sprinkled with profanity, left the meeting."

WOULD RAISE PRICES

Officials of the creamery said this morning that if they were to unionize, the price of milk would be raised to meet expenses. The dairy employs 100 men, all of whom live in Orange county.

Orange county dairy products annually bring in a revenue of more than $1,800,000.

C. H. Christie, secretary-manager of the Orange County Dairy-men's association would say nothing today in regard to the union's effort to organize the industry here, but said the association will make a statement next week relative to the policy it will follow. He added the association represents producers who distribute 80 to 90 per cent of the milk in this county.

KELLOGG LEAVES HUGE FORTUNE

ST. PAUL. (AP)—Frank B. Kellogg, former United States secretary of state, who died Dec. 31, left an estate with a probable value of $761,000, according to will filed for probate today in Ramsey county probate court.

Bequests totaling approximately $350,000 are made, the residue being left to Mrs. Clara Kellogg, Mr. Kellogg's widow.

Mr. Kellogg left $25,000 for loans to needy, worthy students in the University of Minnesota college of law.

A bequest of $100,000 was set aside for the Protestant Episcopal Cathedral foundation of the District of Columbia.

The largest bequest in which any specific sum is mentioned was $175,000 in securities and properties for a trust fund for a sister, Mrs. Jean J. Austin of New Bedford, Mass., and her daughter, Mrs. Jean K. Stanton, also of New Bedford.

Planes Replace Dogs in Platinum Hunting

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Alaska's dog teams are too old fashioned for 20th century platinum prospectors. These modern miners are flying into the North by airplane, says Dr. J. B. Mertie, jr., government geologist.

He estimates that platinum discoveries in Alaska may supply a tenth of the world's supply. RFC funds are being used to help develop mines.

Missing Heiress Found in Reno

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Search for Antoinette Ward Ripney Young, 23, Reno divorcee and heiress, ended here today when she was located at a hotel where she had resided for some time.

Mrs. Young's mother, Mrs. Francis J. Ripney, publicity director of the New York City cancer committee, had asked police to locate her.

The heiress to an eastern inheritance obtained a divorce here several weeks ago from Warren Madison Young of Sunnyside, L. I. She told Reno police she had not written to her relatives lately because she desired to be left alone.

RED TAPE TANGLES TAXES

Forms Like Alphabet Soup

This year's income tax form, will require 75 to 100 per cent more time to fill out than preceding blanks, owing to a change in its typographical arrangement and physical set-up, says one local prominent tax expert.

"It's the most ambiguous form the income tax department has put out in 24 years," he adds. "For example, what was formerly schedule A is now schedule D, schedule B is now schedule C, schedule D is B, C is F, F is G and E is omitted." In general it is one grand jumble.

CHANGE SOUGHT IN WAR VOTE

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Friends of the Ludlow war referendum in the house said today they were considering changes which would make it imperative if violation of the Monroe doctrine appeared imminent.

Representative Ludlow (D., Ind.) author of the proposed constitutional amendment requiring a referendum by the people before congress could declare war, was designated in a caucus yesterday to direct debate on his resolution.

As it stands, the amendment requires no referendum in case the United States is threatened with invasion; the proposed change would extend this exemption to direct debate on his resolution.

Dog Offered for Mouse-Chasing In City's Park

SAN DIEGO. (AP)—Mrs. Theodora Caldwell believes her dog could clean out the mice that are troubling custodians of Balboa park buildings.

Mrs. Caldwell, who offered the services of her pet, said he learned mouse catching in Guam and was so efficient that the rodents of the South Sea island considered him "public enemy No. 1."

ITALY WORK ARMY WILL AID GERMANY

ROME. (AP)—Thirty thousand Italians will go to Germany in March to work as farm hands under an agreement between the Italian and German governments.

The arrangement announced today will absorb some of Italy's surplus farm labor and give Germany needed agricultural workers in the Reich's campaign to increase its food production.

German farm work normally attracts seasonal laborers from Italy and Eastern Europe but, under the new plan, Italians, instead of filtering into the country individually, will go as an organized work army and in larger numbers.

The Fascist federation of farm workers, in announcing the agreement, said it would eliminate "hardships and humiliations" often encountered by Italian workers abroad and further cement Italo-German friendship and economic ties.

WHEAT MEN BALK CONTROL

MINNEAPOLIS. (AP)—Wheat farmers in Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana, who produce most of the nation's hard red spring or bread wheat, appeared united today in opposition to any legislative effort to restrict their production.

Anticipating some form of crop control in farm legislation now before a congressional conference committee, they asserted:

No surplus of hard red spring wheat existed at present, although there may be more of other types than can be consumed; conditions in the four states of no promise of a surplus in 1938; the 1937 crop of approximately 99,603,000 bushels would just about meet milling requirements.

They cited bureau of agricultural economics figures listing importation of 11,934,650 bushels of hard red spring wheat from Canada from 1934-36 when drought cut production far below normal in the four states.

Trio Held in Blast Deaths

ELIZABETHTOWN, Tenn. (AP)—Sheriff J. M. Moreland, awaiting arrival today of three men from Pikeville, Tenn., said they would face murder charges in the dynamite explosion death of three children near here yesterday.

Sheriff Moreland named the three as White and Crave Tollett, brothers, and Les Walker. Deputy Sheriff Pikeville with them early last night, he said, but were "unreported." He planned to send out a searching party if they did not arrive early today.

The three children killed by the blast which wrecked the Harmon Gouge home were Sonia, 9, Lucia, 7, and Roma Jean Gouge, 5. Their mother, Mrs. Harmon Gouge, was injured seriously. Gouge was not at home.

The sheriff said the Tolletts were brothers of Arnold Tollett who was slain here in 1936. He said Gouge, a Johnson City restaurant operator, is under $10,000 bond in connection with the slaying and is scheduled to face trial next month.

Six persons in all, one a woman, are being held in the dynamiting, the sheriff said.

The department of agriculture estimates that annual pig production has dropped 4,000,000 head, but expects a big increase in 1938.

PILOT DIES AS PLANE EXPLODES

HONOLULU. (AP)—A bomb-laden army plane thrown out of control by a mid-air explosion carried Lieut. Paul D. Bunker, Jr., 23, to his death yesterday in the rugged mountains near Schofield barracks.

Witnesses said a bomb apparently exploded when Lieut. Bunker attempted to release it in bombing practice. The plane fell from an altitude of about 800 feet.

Three other bombs exploded when the plane hit the earth, scattering plane wreckage over a 50-foot area. Army officers said Lieut. Bunker's tangled parachute indicated he had attempted to jump.

PROBE SCHOOL DOPE SALES

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—District Attorney Otis D. Babcock said a statement by Roger Moudy that he had knowledge of narcotic (marijuana) sales to San Mateo High school students would be turned over to federal agents.

Moudy, returned here from Redwood City to face a charge of stealing $325 from a cigar store where he worked, was quoted by Babcock as saying the alleged narcotic peddler forced him to steal the money.

Estate Worth $89,430 Held

Public Administrator Earl Abbey held estate property worth $89,430.11 at the end of 1937, he reported to Presiding Superior Judge James L. Allen today.

Abbey's semi-annual report showed 16 estates in which letters of administration were issued to him since last July 1.

Farm Bureau May Not Name New Field Secretary

The Orange county farm bureau may get along without a field secretary, it was learned today.
Appointment of a successor to Cecil J. Marks, now executive secretary of the farm bureau, was postponed by the board of directors yesterday, pending the report of a committee appointed to study a possible change in the bureau's organization.
Decision as to whether to appoint a field secretary to replace Marks or to adopt some other form of organization is expected to be made at the February directors' meeting.

CITRUS SALE NETS RETURN OF $900,000

La Habra Manager, Directors Re-Elected

Growing importance of citrus by-products as a means of controlling unmarketable surplus was stressed at last night's annual meeting of the La Habra Citrus association, as annual reports were read showing returns of almost $900,000 to member growers during the past year.
Manager J. A. Chwening, reporting on the year's business, said a greater part of unmarketable fruit than in years past had been disposed of through manufacture of by-products.
All members of the board of directors, as well as Manager Chwening, were re-elected for 1938. They include: W. E. Espelt, president; M. J. Pickering, C. W. Milhouse, J. Arroues, E. A. Edwards, E. Leutwiler, and A. M. Otis.
Growers will get plenty of cooperation during the ensuing year from Mother Nature, Harold Rathbun, weather man of the principal, said the 150 members and guests in attendance.
Other speakers included James Cook, Los Angeles, and A. H. Kirchmann, secretary of the Northern Orange County Citrus exchange. The La Habra association is a member of the exchange.

REPORT CLEARS HOOVER CREW

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The commerce department said today that five affidavits from passengers on the steamship President Hoover showed "a relatively small number" of the crew "became drunk and disorderly" after the liner ran aground off Formosa the night of Dec. 10.
The affidavits concerned "incidents which took place on the island, Hoishoto, after the stranding of the $8,000,000 liner."
"The statements all point out that a very small number of the crew was involved in this disorderly conduct and several of the statements refer very favorably to certain individuals and to the majority of the crew in general."
The statements were obtained by the American consul at Hongkong at the request of the commerce department for use in connection with an investigation into the stranding of the ship. None of the statements touched on the navigation of the ship.

LARGER AIR FIGHTERS SEEN

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Major General Frank M. Andrews, chief of the general headquarters air force, predicted today that the army's 8½-ton "flying fortress" would be "considered a small airplane" in the near future.
"The trend is toward still larger bombers," he said in a review of last year's improvements.
"The 'flying fortress' already has been followed by an army 'super flying fortress' weighing 12 tons, and with a wing spread of 150 instead of 100 feet.
The navy, building up a fleet of long range patrol planes, has gone far beyond the army in experiments with super-sized aircraft. One bomber now undergoing tests weighs about 50 tons and another being built will weigh about 60 tons.

Farm Bureau Back Bean Sale

Farm bureau directors were on record today as appreciating a special "bean sale" by Orange county retail stores during January.
A resolution passed by directors said: "This board of directors of the Orange county farm bureau expresses appreciation to the management of the retail stores of Orange county who are arranging to hold special sales of dried beans during January; and urges the buying public to buy more beans in order to assist in raising bean prices to producers."

Indians Topic for Center Meeting

"Agricultural Practices of Orange County's First Resident—the Indians," will be the subject of a talk to be given by John Winterbourne before members of the Anaheim Farm Center next Tuesday evening in the Anaheim High school cafeteria at 6:30 o'clock.

Explorer Catches Female Panda

HONGKONG, China, (AP)—Mrs. H. W. Harkness, jr., the explorer, arrived here today by airplane from Hankow with a two-month old female panda caught on the Chinese frontier.
She is proceeding to the United States with the specimen this week. It is the second to be obtained by Mrs. Harkness.

I Just Found Out
Box Office For Heaven

—By—
MILLARD BROWNE

Giggling youngsters, blase repeaters and sweet, serene old folks... Proudly beaming girls who flash sparkling diamonds and carefree, smart-cracking youths... Entire families (from grandpa down to sniffling, four-year-old Jose) excitedly chattering while Pedro and Maria talk to the lady in half-English that's about as good as her half-Spanish.

All this is part of the mottled composite true-love presents as it annually parades, 9000 strong and arm-in-arm, past the county marriage license bureau, box-office for heaven.

St. Peter at the local pearly gates is Miss Helene Kubitz, who checks qualifications of everyone who passes through. Atmosphere of her office reeks with the festive, carefree spirit, she reports.

You've heard Orange county is Gretna Green for Los Angeles? That's about right, at least. One per cent of the principal in the county's 4500 weddings each year give Los Angeles county as their residence, and less than 15 per cent actually live in this county. The rest come from out-of-state and other places in California.

Prospective brides and grooms don't appear frightened these days, claim Miss Kubitz, a deputy county clerk since 1915. Older couples and divorcees who've come back for more are more than the youngsters, who look at it as a huge adventure.

Comedy and Pathos both are part of the daily routine in the marriage bureau, a division of the county clerk's office. Suspicious mothers often "phone in" or show up personally to nip elopements in the bud, many of the Mexican parents even insisting on having the boy jailed if their daughter happens to be underage.

Such parents just as often will change their minds in two or three days, either give blessings and permit the marriage to continue or actually insist that it be performed. In such cases have given Charles Tulene, deputy clerk in Santa Ana justice court, the reputation of being best man at more weddings than anyone else in the county.

Filling intentions and returning to get licenses are part of the marriage ceremony to most Mexican couples, and they're the ones who show up at the license bureau in fanciest raiment. Other girls usually wear sport clothes, and in sum—there's a lot to be seen in bathing suits and slacks.

A surprising number of couples give identical surnames and addresses. Reasons for similar names: A pretty fair number of re-marriages of couples once divorced, and a few marriages among cousins, permitted under California law. Identical addresses need cause no lifted eyebrows, because occasionally one of the couple is from out-of-state, gives the local address of his or her fiancée as a temporary residence during the wedding ceremonies. Others give the address of their future home.

Happiest couples often are these being re-married. Occasionally they bring the marriage of their first marriage along when they file intentions.

Miss Kubitz is charged with being watch-dog to see that there's no illegal intermarrying of races and that couples are of legal age. It's quite a job in some cases, particularly where a very light negro attempts to marry a very swarthy white person. One apparently white girl, refused permission to marry a negro, asked in desperation, "What can I do?" "Don't marry a negro," she was told. "I was 'Jim-Crowed' for being a negro, and here you won't let me marry one."

License clerks are careful to make no recommendations about whom couples can be married. They point to a full list of ministers on a wall in the office, then simply warn their customers they must be married someplace in the county.

Only times Miss Kubitz has seen brides actually in tears were because of the "gin marriage law" which provides three days shall intervene between applying for and securing a license. Many couples thought they could get licenses on the third day, planned big weddings and sent out invitations, then filed intentions too late. The only solution is to hold a mock wedding and follow it up later with a legal ceremony.

Bride and groom must be together when they file intentions to wed, but either one can return after three days to get the license. Only way applications will be accepted if they're not together is for each to sign affidavits, have them notarized and sent back to the license bureau. Even then they must return together to get their license, though.

Most couples who come here from Los Angeles are trying to avoid publicity, since Orange county marriages aren't published in L. A. papers. Many of them make elaborate attempts to disguise their applications, though the most serious crime usually is giving the wrong address.

During depression, girls were even more anxious to conceal their marriage intentions, since married women lost their jobs in many places. Most of the attempts to evade publicity now,

Taxonomist

MARGARET CLINTON

If it's a taxonomist that is needed, Santa Ana Junior college has one.
Margaret Clinton, sophomore, is the only student to perform the meticulous work of taxonomy or classifying unnamed plants at the college.

However, taxonomy is not to be confused with taxidermy, although the local jaycee has a young man who hunts snakes and mounts animals. Leo Miller works under title of taxidermist.

Where specimen hunters leave their discoveries—in the rooms of J. Russell Bruff, head of the science department—Miss Clinton proceeds to attach names to unidentified plants and run down their history.

In addition to identifying a number of specimens each day she engages in patient reference work and filing completed mountings.
Miss Clinton is not the first student ever to have specialized in this type of work, since the science instructor has had many assistants during the years at jaycee.

But she does rank at the top as being the only student to have worked at taxonomy in the efficient, thorough and exacting manner which it requires, according to the instructor.

Historical Society Elects Directors

Directors of the Orange County Historical society during 1938 will be William McPherson, Mrs. J. E. Pleasant, Mrs. C. A. Riggs, Mrs. Anita L. Alexander, S. M. Davis, E. M. Sundquist and T. E. Stephenson. They were named last night at the annual meeting of the society.
Papers read included E. M. Sundquist's "Orange County in 1876," and Mrs. J. E. Pleasant's "Domestic Life of Early Orange County in the Spanish Period."
"Mofras' Travels on the Pacific Coast," recently published by the Santa Ana High school Fine Arts press, was reviewed by William McPherson. Spencer Miller, Laguna Beach, was elected to the society.

MISSIONARY MEETING

Members of the Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church will meet in the fellowship room of the church at 2 p. m. Wednesday.

however, are just because couples "don't want people to know." Phoney addresses often are given so wedding chapels won't surprise unsuspecting parents with a flood of literature.

Despite talk about increasing divorce, nearly three-fourths of the principals in Orange county weddings are taking the step for the first time. Half of the county's 4500 licenses each year are issued to single boys who plan to marry single girls, 25 per cent go to couples of one single and one divorcee, and six per cent are issued to single men or women who plan to marry widows or widowers.

Of last month's 794 brides and grooms, 227 were divorcees; 122 of them intermarried, 82 married formerly-single mates and 23 married widows and widowers. That's about an average ratio, license bureau clerks figured. Most-divorced couple: She was signing for her sixth marriage, he for his fourth.

Though only about four per cent of the marriages involve boys or girls under legal age (21 for men, 18 for women), nearly two-thirds of the couples are less than 30 years old. Oldest couple Miss Kubitz remembers: A man 82 who married a woman 80. One woman, 35, recently married a boy so young he needed his parents consent.

Age differentials have been narrowed down in the last few years, but 80 per cent of the applications still list the bride-groom as older than the bride. About eight per cent list both parties as the same age, the remainder give seniority to the bride.

FARM GROUPS GET TRAINING

Officers and directors of farm bureau groups will assemble next Friday night for the first meeting of their third annual officers' training school, Executive Secretary C. J. Marks announced today.
Sessions of the school will be held in the farm bureau building on North Main street, beginning at 7:30 p. m. Jan. 14, 21 and 28.
J. W. Crill of Garden Grove will preside, with Mrs. S. W. Stanley of Tustin as parliamentarian. The school is held to train county officers and committeemen, center officers and officers of the home department in their duties, public speaking and parliamentary practice.

L. P. Halderman of Anaheim will open the first night's session with Crill outlining the school's program. John Kennedy of the Anaheim Junior High school will deliver instructor's remarks.

Duties and programs of center presidents will be discussed by Charles W. Musser of Garden Grove, William Charles Armstrong of Orange, and Carl L. Young of Santa Ana.

TRUCK CONVOY ASKED HERE

Threats of interference with farmers driving their own produce trucks in Imperial county were echoed here today as Sheriff Logan Jackson received a request for "safe convoy" of all Imperial county drivers asking for an escort through Orange county.

In the face of demands by the Imperial county board of supervisors that highways in that county be kept free for independent drivers, indirect threats had come to representative farmers here that attempts may be made just across the county line to stop non-union drivers delivering hay to Orange county dairies.

Copies of the Imperial county resolution, which declared some farmers and transportation companies have been told by "certain interests" that they cannot operate on the public highways unless they submit to a "closed shop," were sent to Jackson and to the board of supervisors here.

TRAFFIC FINE TOTAL SWELLS

Yesterday was high finance day in Santa Ana city court as 20 overtime parking tickets were "redeemed" and six speeding cases—including one carrying a $35 fine—brought total traffic receipts and promised receipts to an even $100.

Toy B. Groves was fined $35 for allegedly traveling 70 miles an hour in a 45-mile zone at Santa Ana boulevard and the river bridge.

Other speeding fines: Jack Cherie, Los Angeles (speeding and failure to appear), $15; Linda Hutton, Santa Ana, $8; Thomas W. Walker, Los Angeles, $8; Alfred Burton Culver, Santa Ana, $8; and Henry Licerio, Santa Ana, $6.
Hayes D. White, Santa Ana, paid for six of the 20 parking tickets and L. W. DuVal, Santa Ana, was fined $3 for three more.

High School Girls Reported Missing

Police and parents today had become apprehensive over the whereabouts of two young high school girls, both reported missing late yesterday.
Ruth Behrens, 14, 1903 South Broadway, had not returned home since yesterday morning when she started for school, and Patricia Edige, 15, 606 East Third street, also was reported missing since yesterday morning.

No Parents Found For 'Doorstep Baby'

Authorities today looked to Orange county to solve the mystery of a female baby left on a Riverside doorstep several days ago.
Asked to check birth records for a half-Mexican, half-American baby girl born between Dec. 10 and Dec. 27, the sheriff's office found two such infants, but both were happy in the bosoms of their families.

Whisky Loot of Box Car Burglar

Police today were doubly on the lookout for drunks. Because one of them probably is the burglar they're after.
A boxcar burglary in the Santa Fe railroad yards was reported by E. W. Lewis, night operator, early today. Only loot, he said, was a case of whisky consigned to the Seventeenth and Main street pharmacy.

EBELL BRIDGE SESSION
Junior Ebells' Contract section will meet in the clubhouse lounge at 7:45 p. m. Tuesday, Jan. 11. There will be in instructor present, and hostesses for the session will be Miss Marian Brownridge, Miss Natalie Neff, Miss Mary Nau and Miss Mary Tuthill.

STOLEN BIKE

A bicycle belonging to Marilyn Munselle, 1112 South Broadway, was stolen from in front of her home Thursday night, her father, Art Munselle, reported to police yesterday.

COAT STOLEN

A $10 jacket was stolen from Alvin Ratley's room at 127 South Main street yesterday morning, he reported to police.

What Brides Should Know

By DALE CARNEGIE

A friend of mine has just got charming to their elders, how to rear babies, how to make dresses. There is even a lecture on how properly to arrange flowers on a table.
The whole course—from freshman to graduation—requires two years.
I gasped when my friend told me, but when I gave it a moment's thought I wondered why there is not such a school at every town in the United States.
I'll add to this a suggestion for a School for Prospective Husbands. It should take a year's work in this school to graduate. Now, wives, don't write in and jump on me merely because I'm not married.

Dale Carnegie, who has written a book on "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," is a visiting lecturer. It is considered so important that a Viscount is the headmaster. A Viscount, in this country, would be of practically the same rank as a senator.

4 Charged as Drunk Drivers

Four motorists were arrested on drunk driving charges within less than two hours in Santa Ana yesterday afternoon.
They are: Jesus Magdaleno, 50, 393 North Cypress street, Orange; Roy Shores, 47, 305 Juliana street, Anaheim; Ray Hollenbeck, 32, 838 North Van Ness street, Santa Ana; and Otis Wells, 39, 925 French street, Santa Ana.

Magdaleno was arrested by police after his car and an Edison company truck driven by J. H. Jessup, 1051 West Pine street, collided at Fifth and Pacific streets. None was injured in the accident.

Hollenbeck's arrest followed an accident in which he crashed into a walnut tree in front of Mrs. Ava Osborn's home, 815 North Ross street, and Shores was picked up after assertedly running into the rear of a car at Fourth and Main streets. Wells was arrested at Seventeenth and Main streets.

G. M. Henson, 617 Eastwood street, was slightly injured in a collision with Pedro Castro, 21, 1112 East Second street, at First and Garfield streets Thursday evening.

Headed by Past Department Commander Charles E. Dixon, members of Calumet Camp and Auxiliary, United Spanish War Veterans, installed last night at installation of the Charles E. Dixon camp, in Corona.

Included in the local group were Dixon, Senior Vice Commander Jacob B. Wine, Junior Vice Commander John H. Hinkleley, Quartermaster William Brown, Patriotic Instructor Warren L. Cook, Officer of the Guard Charles C. Graham, Quartermaster Sergeant Joseph L. Peterman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindquist, Mr. and Mrs. Orson Early, and Mesdames Wine, Hinkleley, Brown, Graham and Cook.

Kiwanis Plans for Big Convention

Seven thousand members of Kiwanis International are expected to attend the convention of Kiwanis clubs in San Francisco June 26-30.
Delegates are expected from approximately all the 1938 Kiwanis clubs throughout the United States and Canada. There are more than 6900 members of the organization in California.

County Vets Back From Davis Confab

Dr. John Bower, Orange county livestock inspector and Dr. Clarence Raney of the Excelsior Creamery company returned yesterday from Davis where they attended the annual meeting of the California Veterinarians at Davis. Approximately 255 delegates were present.

EMPIRE ON DOWN GRADE SAYS FLINT

"The British Empire is definitely on the decline," Dean Calvin Flint of the Santa Ana Junior college told members of the Orange County Bar association at their noon day meeting yesterday.

For one thing, Britain no longer has control of the Mediterranean. Again, it is Dean Flint's contention, Germany will sooner or later demand colonies of England. The British dominions do not care to enter into a European war involving Britain, and Britain has no allies she could rely upon, except under a few conditions.

In event of war, Britain would have four continents to defend, he said, and with the advent of enemy bombing planes possessing cruising capacities of 4000 miles, England's problems are only increased in regard to defenses.

Since the world war Britain has found her world trade on the decline.

Delegates to State Bar Meet Named

Col. M. B. Wellington of Santa Ana and Raymond Thompson and Sam Collins, both of Fullerton, were named yesterday by members of the Orange County Bar association as official delegates to the State Bar association convention next August, it was reported today by George Parker, president of the county group.

The Orange county delegates named here, with others elected throughout the state, will be in charge of making plans for the convention to follow. Colonel Wellington, designated yesterday as a delegate, is also a member of the state resolutions committee.

Woman Students to Nominate Officers

Some of California's most prominent junior colleges would be organized in a "Little Big Ten" athletic conference under a plan advanced by Coaches Jack Gardner of Modesto and Tay Brown of Compton.

Because of the distance angle, Santa Ana obviously would not join such a set-up, but it is interesting to learn that the Dons were included as a probable member of the proposed 10-junior league.

The Modesto coach announced that he and his Compton friend, Coach Brown, who laid the ground work for such a league, would seek Santa Ana, Pasadena, Los Angeles, Bakersfield, Sacramento, San Francisco, Taft and San Mateo to join Compton and Modesto in the new set-up.

Competition would be held in football, basketball, track and field, tennis, baseball and possibly swimming and soccer.

Louie (Neve) Novikoff, the Huntington Beach terror who deserted the softball ranks to make good in baseball at Pomona City, Okla., last year, may be optioned by the Los Angeles Angels for outfield duty in Moline, Ill., this year.

Men can't go a step further than women in sport, it seems.

A few months ago the women invaded the wrestling ranks, and began packing in the crowds.

When the male matadors took up the Hindu sport, mud-wrestling, it was thought that the weaker sex would not dare enter this novel event, too.

However, Mildred Burke and "Babe" Gordon, eastern wrestlers, tried the mud-bath variety last night. According to wire reports, the two young women slipped, splashed and sprawled in four inches of oozy loam slime for 15 min. and 20 sec. Burke, the winner, relished the dirty sport, but her loser claimed "it was no fun."

TUSTIN FIVE WINS, 23-5

Pomona college's freshmen were held scoreless for the last three quarters last night while Tustin High school's cagers coasted to a 23 to 5 victory in a practice game at Tustin.

Tustin's Class Bees defeated the varsity reserves, 30 to 22, in the preliminary.

Pomona held a 5-4 advantage at the end of the first quarter before Tustin's strong defense clamped down and did not allow another point.

Scoring honors were distributed among four of Coach Bill Cole's varsity regulars.

Fullerton plays at Tustin in another practice game Tuesday afternoon.

GOODMAN TOPS WALKER CUP SELECTIONS IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK. (AP)—The United States golf association selected a Walker cup squad of eight players and two alternates today and chose Francis Ouimet of Boston as the non-playing captain.

Selected for the team were Johnny Goodman of Omaha, national amateur champion; Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati; Freddy Haas of New Orleans; Charles (Chuck) Kocsis of Detroit; Reynolds Smith of Atlanta; Chosen as alternates were T. Saffern (Tommy) Teller of New York, and Don Moe of Portland, Ore.

The Walker cup matches against Great Britain's picked amateurs will be played at the St. Andrews club in Scotland, June 3-4.

STEELE WILTS UNDER BLOWS OF APOSTOLI

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK.—Fred Apostoli, swarthy San Franciscan, has ripped and torn the middleweight champion of two continents into bleeding, reeling helplessness, and he still has nothing more tangible to show for it than the championship of California.

Some three and a half months ago he scored a technical knockout over Bald Marcel Tith, champion of Europe, but Tith's title at the time was stored safely in Paris, along with France's other treasures.

Last night the former bellhop gave classic Freddie Steele such a savage beating in the Garden that the bout was stopped in the ninth with the American 160-pound king virtually out on his feet, yet it still brought Apostoli only a wild exultation that came nigh bursting his chest.

"I'll claim title!" he yelled. "I've only lived the last three years to get that guy in the ring. Now if he doesn't give me a title fight I'll claim it anyway."

He might just as well start claiming, for Steele, a wreck of a man as he lay in the dressing room, wouldn't even discuss the possibility of a return encounter with the human machine gun, at any weight. Apostoli was forced to come in last night at 161½, so it was no dice.

"I'll never fight in this town again," moaned the battered champion as an ice pack was applied to his lower groin, where a wild Apostoli left caught him in the seventh round. "They would not give me half the bandage I needed for my hands."

The low punch alone clouded Apostoli's victory. It clearly was accidental, but it took a lot out of Steele. Referee Arthur Donovan held up the battle fully 10 seconds, an unprecedented action in the sport.

Steele had recovered sufficiently to go on. Later, he blamed the punch for his defeat. "I just was beginning to get right," he complained. "It sent a terrific pain all over my lower body. I know Apostoli didn't do it on purpose, but it won the fight for him. After that I was strictly a catcher."

It was too bad it had to happen, because it marred somewhat a great fight, one that kept 8000 fans screaming and made the heart beat faster. As the two tore into each other round after round, dealing terrible punishment, the man in the seat behind kept repeating "Oh, what a fight! Oh, what a fight!"

STEELE IS CROWDED
Steele was the perfect boxer, the sharpshooter, cool and quiet. Apostoli crowded into him, swirling and cursing in the clinches, and throwing the heavier punches.

As early as the second round he staggered Steele with a right and twice beat him into the ropes. He gave the champion another bad beating in the third, but Steele never ceased fighting back.

When Steele came back to take the fourth and fifth, the champion's supporters, who had given odds of 12 to 5 before the bout, began to breathe easier. But Apostoli must only have been resting. From the moment the sixth round opened until Donovan stepped in to his corner in the ninth the San Franciscan boy was on top. The ringdiers thought he would have won without the low blow.

Steele took a terrible beating in the eighth. Apostoli clipped him with a staggering left at the outset, and then, by actual count, measured the dazed champion with 51 more lefts and rights to the head before the bell finally sounded. It looked like Steele's head would be torn off, but he refused to go down. The crowd sighed with relief when Donovan stepped between them after 54 more seconds of the same in the ninth.

University of Minnesota Cagers Seeking Big Ten Championship

No one sleeps in this lecture on basketball being given by Coach Dave McMillan of the University of Minnesota to players he hopes will give Gophers an undisputed Big Ten championship. Minnesota and Illinois tied last year. Left to right, players are: Gordon Addington, Paul Maki, John Kundla, Martin Bolek, and Bob Manly.

TWENTY-FOUR SHATTER PAR IN L. A. OPEN

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Griffith park's companion golf courses, Woodrow Wilson and Warren G. Harding, were in for another drubbing today as the second round of the $5000 Los Angeles Open got underway.

Led by long-hitting Jimmy Thomson, the Shawnee siege gun, and veteran Willie Goggin of San Francisco, no less than 24 professional golfers shot under the Wilson par 71 as well as the Harding par 72, in the opening round assault.

Today's 18 holes started off with Goggin and Thomson, with 65's, three strokes in front of the nearest contestants—a group of eight including Bruce McCormick, Los Angeles' national public links champion; Henry Picard, of Hershey, Pa.; Harold McSpaden, Winchester, Mass., and Lloyd Mangrum, Dayton, O.

MacDonald Smith of Glendale, Calif., who holds the unequalled distinction of having won the Los Angeles open four times during its 12 years of existence, looked up to his last championship form of 1934 with a first round of 70.

Trojan Ice Hockey Team Tied With Loyola for Lead

YOSEMITE. (AP)—The University of Southern California ice hockey team went into a tie with Loyola university for the lead in the Hoover cup series as a result of an 8 to 0 victory last night over the inexperienced University of California at Los Angeles Bruins.

Earlier in the evening, Loyola scored a 7 to 2 ice hockey victory over the University of California Bears.

Trojan players spent almost the entire evening in Bruin territory. Bruin goalie Bob Morris became dizzy watching the puck fly over, under and past him. The Trojans scored in eight of 37 attempts, tallying five in the first period, three in the second, and one in the third.

SHARPSHOOTING SANTA ANITA

By FRANK FISKE

The Phantom slithered in sheepishly this morning, handed me his daily report on conditions at the eighth pole and started sliding out of the office.

"Hey!" I yelled. "Come here! How about Toro Bang yesterday? Did they give . . ."

"Aw, boss, you know how those things are," he tossed the answer over his shoulder and sneaked away rapidly.

So that's that. But I can't help remembering how a couple of winters ago they ruled Dark Winter off at Santa Anita for inconsistency! However—that's just more hoof beats in the echoes and it doesn't alter the fact that today in the . . .

Crowell Chalks up Knockout in Sixth

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Chuck Crowell, hard-scooping young giant from Norwalk, Cal., was hailed as a heavyweight prospect today as he marked down Sandy McCormick in his growing list of knockout victims.

Crowell's stiff right punch to the heart knocked out the Dallas, Tex., Scotchman in the sixth round of their 10-round match fight here last night.

SUNSET PREP LEAGUE

Orange 36, Newport 20.
Huntington Beach 27, L. B. Jordan 19.
Anaheim 27, Excelsior 18.

Two surprises marked first-round basketball games in the Sunset Prep league yesterday. Huntington Beach's Oilers, who were defeated by teams in the Southern Counties Invitational, came back with a 27 to 19 victory over Long Beach Jordan.

Anaheim's Colists turned back Excelsior, 27 to 18.

Orange's Panthers, with Henry Martinez tossing in 12 points and Bob Schildmeyer and Dick Gunther scoring 14 between them, stopped Newport Harbor 35 to 20, in the only game that ran true to form.

Anaheim's high scorer was Woodrome at forward with 12 points against Excelsior. Gifford, Hilton and Flanagan sparked Huntington Beach's Oilers in their victory at Long Beach.

HEAVY FOREIGN COMPETITION SPURS U. S. TRACK GREATS

NEW YORK. (AP)—Spurred on by prospects of heavy foreign competition, American track and field athletes may set an even faster pace in 1938 than they did a year ago when seven world records were broken by United States standard-bearers.

Opposition for travel in foreign countries is one of the chief incentives for athletes to remain in competition and, if present plans materialize, more American track and field stars than ever before in a non-Olympic year, will compete about this summer.

An international dual meet between the champions of Europe on one side and the U. S. champions on the other is one the A. A. U. already has been granted and negotiations now are under way. The European championships will be held in Paris early in August and present plans call for the international meet a week later. The 1938 winners of the National A. A. U. championship will make up the U. S. team.

Two other international meets for American athletes definitely are fixed and others are tentatively planned. A team of 10 will compete in the first of these meets in London Aug. 1 and the other will pit the combined Cornell-Princeton squad against Oxford-Cambridge.

INDOOR TRACK SEASON WILL OPEN TONIGHT

NEW YORK. (AP)—They pry the lid off the indoor track season in the Knights of Columbus meet tonight, and it's still Glenn Cunningham vs. Old Pop Time as the featured attraction.

Although Don Lash, the durable Indianan; Marty Glickman, Syracuse sprint flash, and Cornelius Johnson, high jump champion, are in the entry lists, along with a host of others, the barrel-chested Cunningham remains the favorite of the fans.

Despite the added burden of a long-standing bronchial condition, his heavy work for his Ph. D. degree which forced his transfer from Kansas to New York university, and the rise of new sets of flying heels, Cunningham is favored in the 800-meter run.

Opposing him in the event on the boards of Brooklyn's 13th Regiment armory are such highly-regarded steppers as Gene Venzke, the ex-Pennsylvania picture runner, and Manhattan's middle-distance twins, Lou Burns and Howard Bork. They will be trying to break Cunningham's three-year monopoly of this shorter event, with which he annually starts his campaigning for the mile honors of the indoor season.

Lash, the middle-west's iron man, is out for a new record in the 3000-meter run, pointing for Paavo Nurmi's 15-year-old 8:26.25 mark. Opposed by a field that includes Archie San Romani, another transplanted Kansan, and the veteran New Yorker, Joe McCluskey, Lash may be pushed to a new meet mark in the event he won last year.

A pair of New York U. contenders, Jim Herbert and Edgar Stripling, top the 500-meter field, with Jim McPoland, former Georgetown star, furnishing the outstanding opposition.

LOSSES HANDED MAKO, BUDGE

MELBOURNE, Australia. (AP)—Adrian Quist today defeated Gene Mako of California, 6-3, 7-5, to give Australia the first victory but with no reason to cause any complaint from the customers. The German ace won 6-4, 8-10, 12-10 after a terrific tussle.

Don Budge, American national singles champion, bowed to Baron Gottfried von Cramm of Germany for the second time in a fortnight but with no reason to cause any complaint from the customers. The German ace won 6-4, 8-10, 12-10 after a terrific tussle.

Schmeling Starts
Training for
Foord and Louis

HAMBURG, Germany. (AP)—Max Schmeling said today he'll decide after his Jan. 30 bout with Ben Foord whether to have another match before meeting Joe Louis for the heavyweight championship next summer.

Both Der Moxie and his forthcoming rival were here today, opening training quarters for their 12-round go.

Only three weeks after his knockout victory over Harry Thorneas, New York Madison Square Garden, which was regarded as his first "warm-up" for a Louis fight—the German clouter is taking his training preparations for Foord seriously.

S. B. QUINTET LOSES 21-19 TO REDLANDS

Living up to their role as Citrus Belt league favorites, Chaffey's Tigers wrecked the debut of Santa Ana High school's basketball varsity, 33 to 20, in Andrews gymnasium here yesterday. Redlands trimmed San Bernardino, 21-19, in another game.

Santa Ana's sophomores dropped a heated preliminary, 23-21, but only after two overtime periods. The "Little Saints" led 15-12 at the three-quarter mark, but allowed the visitors to knot the count 19-19 at the end of the regular playing period.

More sharpshooters on the Saint varsity like Forward Gene O'Campo, who sent 11 points spinning through the mesh on three set-up shots and two goals from the sidelines, might have offset the precise shooting of two Chaffey men, Poindester and Latimer, who tallied 10 points each. As it was, Marvin Webb was next high for Coach Joe Keogler's varsity with four points.

For three minutes in the opening period, it looked as if the Saints would turn back the invaders when O'Campo stole the ball from the Chaffey guard and broke loose for two consecutive set-ups. Chaffey then hit the basket for three field goals to end the period, 7-4.

O'Campo made one. Pete Partida connected for two points and Webb sent in four points to keep the Saints within striking distance at the half time, 11-14. Chaffey made it 21-14 at the three-quarter mark and turned on the heat in the last period to win, 33-20.

Failing to control the ball after Chaffey shot the basket had missed, led to Santa Ana's downfall. The Saints play their second game at Redlands Tuesday.

MUSICAL STARS FRED ASTAIRE

Burns and Allen
Caper in Film

Sparkling with catchy Gershwin tunes and with one of P. G. Wodehouse's most hilarious stories of English social life as its basis, "A Damsel in Distress" opens today at the Broadway theater with Fred Astaire in his first picture with George Burns and Gracie Allen. Nimble-footed Astaire has the role of an American dancer who seeks to rescue a titled British girl from her impending marriage with a man she detests. It is complicated in uproarious fashion by the activities of a half dozen other principals.

Burns and Allen, as the busy publicists, are at their hilarious best, and Joan Fontaine is both lovely and convincing as the distressed damsel. Montagu Love, Constance Collier, Ray Noble, Reginald Gardiner, young Harry Watson and Jack Carson help to make the film a brilliant piece of screen fare. The catchy Gershwin songs, Astaire's several spectacular dancing routines, and the picturesque settings, including a huge reproduction of a Tudor castle, are big features of the production.

Second attraction is "Born to the West," the fast-moving Zane Grey outdoor romance, which opens with a thrilling gun battle in which the entire rustler band is wiped out. There's plenty of comedy, romance and thrills between, making the picture a well rounded out entertainment.

"Born to the West" concerns the fortunes of handsome John Wayne and his saddle mate, John Saylor, a happy-go-lucky pair who drift into the Idaho cow country in quest of excitement. They find it soon enough, when they get mixed up with attempts of rustlers to steal herds. Marsha Hunt is featured in the leading feminine role. Short subjects include a Pete Smith novelty, "Candid Camera," and World News events.

WOODEN GUNS KILL SULTAN

MANILA. (AP)—Datu Macarimbang, the Sultan of Timbal, and his brother, Malambut, were shot and killed near Dansalan, Lanao province, yesterday while attempting to serve as mediators between Philippine soldiers and rebellious Moros.

When the soldiers, in the course of a general drive against the Moros, advanced upon the Timbal fort, the sultan and his brother, who were with the soldiers, moved ahead in an attempt to pacify the Moros within.

The rebels opened fire with their wooden cannon and home made guns, killing the mediators.

The soldiers killed two unidentified Moros, called for reinforcements and announced they would attack tomorrow.

J. C. Magazine Goes To Press Soon

The first semester edition of Tavern Post, Santa Ana Junior college literary publication, will go on the presses of the college Fine Arts Press at the end of next week, Editor Catherine Cooper said today.

Actual date for issuing the Post has not been set, but it will be before final examinations, which commence Friday, Jan. 21. Included among the many features of the Post will be a section of light verse, titled "Tavern Froth."

Editorial staff for this semester consists of Miss Cooper, editor; Margaret Clinton, Delpha Wollert, Stanley Slabeck, Barbara Knuth, Freda Wagner, associate editors; Betty West, art editor; and James Bartlett, business manager. Thomas H. Glenn, head of the jaycee English department, is faculty adviser. Printing is under the direction of Thomas E. Williams, director of the college Fine Arts Press.

Playing At Broadway

Now at West Coast

Edward G. Robinson and Lionel Stander are shown in a dramatic scene from the thrilling production, "The Last Gangster," now showing at the West Coast theater with "You're Only Young Once," a typical and amusing drama of American life, featuring Lewis Stone.

Hollywood Sights, Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD. — When they figured which of Hollywood's cowboy stars ranked highest at the boxoffice this year, you can put it down now that the name will be Gene Autry.

Four years ago this Autry was a Hollywood unknown. Three years ago he appeared in his first picture, in a minor role. In his next picture he was starred. All told, he has made 22 films. Starting for Republic, an independent studio, he has had bids from two majors, 20th Century-Fox and Paramount.

He gets an average of 2000 fan letters a week. The total jumps whenever he "guests" on the air which is frequently. After he "guested" for Rudy Valve 10,000 fans wrote in. He had to employ three extra secretaries to answer them. For his regular correspondence and business affairs he maintains a business office and one secretary. He religiously keeps up with fan mail calling for his perked-out the entire run of Autry.

NEW SLANT ON OLD PLOT

His pictures play on Broadway but not on Hollywood boulevard. His studio has a standing offer of one week's free rental on any Autry picture to any exhibitor anywhere, but Hollywood boulevard theaters so far haven't taken it. About 200 others, over the country, who took the chance have booked the entire run of Autry's. This has jumped the number of theaters who play Autry to approximately 8000.

Autry was 30 last Sept. 29. He was born in Toga, Texas, came to Hollywood via Tulsa, Okla., radio and phonograph recordings. He was first to put music in a western—and it was one of Ken Maynard's westerns at that. In "In Old Santa Fe," Gene sang in a musical sequence or two. Maynard, the star, sang but through the courtesy of a voice double.

Now virtually all the westerns are "singing" pictures.

The music, plus an attempt to break away from the old "western" formula, gets much of the credit for the popularity of Autry's product. He never uses the plot about the cowgirl, the hero, the mortgaged ranch, and the cunning villain—not in the old sense. He dresses it up in modern clothes, sometimes so nicely that it doesn't seem like that plot at all. There is always enough of it left, and plenty of shooting and riding and open country scenery, it makes it a real western.

He uses "specialties" wherever possible to enhance the entertainment value. Will and Gladys Aherm of vaudeville, for instance, and his own Smiley Brunette, and now Lassie White, the minstrel man. He acquired Smiley, the huge accordion player, from a one-man radio station in Tuscola, Ill. Smiley was the one man, getting $12 a week and gasoline. Gene, touring with an act billing 20 members, met a theater manager who objected because he had only 19. Smiley was the answer—at $25 a week. He gets more now.

GETS MANY PROPOSALS

Autry is six feet, blue-eyed, quiet-talking, agreeable—and a showman. Dresses in neatly creased, modified "cowboy" business suit, boots, ten-gallon cream-colored hat, handkerchief bowtie. His red truck—his name's on it—makes no point of avoiding public places. On personal appearances he travels in a trailer—with his horse Champion.

His fan mail includes the usual number of marriage proposals. He is already married lives on a ranch in North Hollywood.

He thinks—honestly—that he's one of the luckiest guys in pictures.

NEW ROBINSON FILM SHOWING

Edward G. Robinson is at his best in "The Last Gangster," the thrill-packed, heart-rending, wall-punching prison drama which now is showing at the West Coast theater. Of added interest is the first appearance in this picture of Robinson's wife proves herself an actress of unusual distinction.

Robinson gives everything that he has, and that is plenty, to the role of Joe Krozac, who thinks he can fool the federal government as he has fooled his fellow crooks and even his wife, who learns only after she has borne his child that she has never had her husband's love.

Although Robinson is always dominant in the title role, the performances of both Miss Stradner as his wife and James Stewart, who plays a newspaper reporter, as the other man, are brilliant. The adventures of a typical American family, with much of the comedy and no little of its drama, are packed in "You're Only Young Once," the second attraction. With the able Lewis Stone in the featured role, supported by an excellent cast which includes Cecilia Parker, Mickey Rooney and Fay Holden, the story is fast-moving, truthful and well presented. The story concerns an American family on its first vacation in 11 years.

Short subjects include a color cartoon, "Little Lamby," and World News events.

Fresno Mayor Seeks State Job

FRESNO. (AP)—Z. S. Leymel, mayor of Fresno from 1929 to 1937, and former assemblyman, announced his candidacy here today for governor of California. Leymel, in a declaration of 10 principles, pledges he will slash taxes, and help restore prosperity to farming and other industries. He is a candidate on the Republican ticket.

Thomas Hardy's ashes were buried in Westminster Abbey but his heart was buried in his parish churchyard in Wessex.

GRANT, DUNNE AT WALKER'S

Cary Grant, whose last session of screen frolicking was opposite Grace Moore in "When You're in Love," indulges in some new capers with Irene Dunne in "The Awful Truth," starting tomorrow at Walker's theater and continuing through Wednesday. "Alcatraz Island" is on the same fascinating program.

In "The Awful Truth" Miss Dunne is seen as the prim, staid wife of Cary Grant, a boonder of sorts who simply can't get used to marriage ties. He takes an innocent vacation in the guise of a business trip and returns to find his wife has been out all night with a romantic foreign vocal teacher. The car, she explains, broke down and they were forced to spend a night at an inn.

Accusations and recriminations fill the air before Mr. and Mrs. decide to separate and then the fun really begins. It is said the story of "Alcatraz Island" isn't merely one of life behind the stone walls of the Pacific-washed prison. There's plenty of action on the mainland, both before and after the protagonist—one Galt Brady, played by John Littel—is confined for income tax evasion.

Playing opposite Littel is Ann Sheridan, who once again shows herself to be one of the most beautiful and talented actresses in Hollywood.

Town Refuses WPA Assistance

HOPEDALE, Mass. (AP)—With the annual closing of the town books, Town Treasurer Alfred A. Lovejoy, Jr., revealed today this town of 3100 never has accepted a penny of WPA money or other similar federal assistance. "We just don't need it," town officials said.

Realty Men Urged to Cash On 'Hot Market' by FHA Head

Orange county realtors aren't "cashing in" on the "hottest" market currently in existence, the Santa Ana realty board was told yesterday in a talk by William Harris, federal housing administration official of Los Angeles. Because of a general housing shortage and security offered under FHA, Harris said, housing today is the "hottest market there is."

Claiming the new building act now before a joint housing senate committee is being pushed by realtors themselves rather than FHA officials, the Los Angeles administrator outlined provisions of the new bill at the local board's weekly meeting in the Rossmore cafe.

"People are interested only in how much they'll have to pay per month, for how long, where they get it and when they can start," Harris declared. "If they can get a home at a price they'd pay for rent, they're satisfied to own it in 20 years, no matter what the cost of materials or the interest rate. That's why the new act is making no attempt to cut interest rates by a government sledgehammer."

Under the proposed new federal housing act, Orange county will be directly benefited, he said, by inclusion of agricultural and rural homes.

Southern California receives another advantage, since low-priced homes have been pegged at $6000 by President Roosevelt and both houses of congress. "They are thinking of homes in Baltimore, Washington and other cities where building has to consider cold weather," he told the realtors. "Out here $6000 houses take in 90 per cent of the new homes, thus opening a market four or five times as big as in other parts of the country."

In its three years of existence, FHA has re-entitled private capital in the real estate business, it has created a sound nationwide mortgage market at the lowest interest in history, and has restored waning faith of the American people in the fundamental idea of owning their own home, Harris boasted.

The Southern California office of FHA, the realtors were told, received applications for home loans totaling $127,000,000 last year, and $78,000,000 of it was for purchase-price mortgages where realtors themselves were involved.

President Earl B. Hawks conducted the meeting, after which he turned the gavel over to Ray Goodcell, incoming president. Roy Burns was welcomed as a new member of the board.

'RAMONA' IN TECHNICOLOR

The current outstanding event in the film world is the presentation of Helen Hunt Jackson's immortal love idyll, "Ramona," produced by 20th Century-Fox in the new perfected Technicolor, coming to the State theater Sun., Mon. and Tues. The delicious comedy riot, "It Can't Last Forever," is a co-feature.

The "Ramona" cast of thousands featuring Loretta Young and Don Ameche, includes such brilliant players as Kent Taylor, Pauline Frederick, Jane Darwell, Katherine DeMille, Victor Kilian and John Carradine.

"Ramona" was filmed in the beautiful San Jacinto mountain meadow land less than 100 miles from Santa Ana, the actual spots where Ramona and Alessandro lived and loved many years ago, as described in the story. The picture was directed by Henry King, with John Stone, associate producer.

"It Can't Last Forever" commences innocently as a rollicking comedy which adds gay musical embellishments en route and winds up in a burst of dramatic excitement. These various entertainment elements have been adroitly merged by the scripters, Lee Lobb and Harold Buchman.

Featured actors include Ralph Bellamy, Robert Armstrong and Betty Furness.

Lippincotts Give Two Parties

Mr. and Mrs. George Lippincott, 1061 West Fourth street, entertained last night with the second of a series of charming evening parties. For both events a Chinese motif was used, Mrs. Lippincott receiving her guests in a Chinese hostess gown.

Lanterns and colorful peach-blossom sprays carried out the Oriental theme in attractive manner, and a Chinese supper was served to conclude each evening. Guests last night were Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Crouse, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Oppen, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ashland, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Al Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth King of Orange, Mr. and Mrs. Don Murphy, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fink.

The first affair was attended by Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jacoby, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Armin, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Courtney Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. John Turton, and Mr. and Mrs. William Holmes.

Fortunate secrets at the first party were Mrs. Jacoby, Mrs. Holmes, Mr. Chandler and Mr. Turner. Last night's winners were Mrs. Crouse, Mrs. Ashland, Mr. Crouse and Mr. Murphy.

HAWAIIAN VISIT DESCRIBED FOR SECTION

The tropical splendor of Hawaii together with amusing and interesting experiences there, were detailed for members of the Junior Ebells Travel section by Miss Ruth Rowland, head of the high school home economics department, yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Thoburn White and Mrs. Herbert Strohschein were co-hostesses to the section yesterday in home of the latter at 922 Freeman. They were assisted in serving a dessert course late in the afternoon by Mrs. Edmund West and Mrs. Calvin Flint. Decorations throughout the home were bowls of bright spring anemones, violets and scarlet poinsettias.

Miss Rowland described her stay in the islands last year when she was an exchange professor to the schools there. Miss Mildred Spicer, leader of the section, conducted the brief business meeting.

Mrs. J. Russell Wilson, Mrs. Harry Jackson, Mrs. John Lacy Taylor and Mrs. C. L. Fritchard were special guests at the meeting. Members present included Mrs. Calvin Flint, Mrs. Wendell Finley, Mrs. Frank Curran, Jr., Mrs. John Scripps, Mrs. Robert Heffner, Mrs. Ed Elstrom, Mrs. Ray Tarr, Mrs. Charles McDaniels, Mrs. E. Benton Deane, Mrs. Quinn Matzen, Mrs. H. Raymond Smith, Mrs. Alvin Stauffer, Mrs. George Walker, Mrs. Edmund West, and Miss Mildred Spicer.

MRS. MATICS IS HOSTESS TO GROUP

The home of Mrs. Guy T. Matics at 1249 South Van Ness street was setting on Thursday evening for members of the Mother's club when they chose as their topic for child study, "The Best Way in Sex Education," Mrs. Josh L. Wilson led the discussion.

Plans for the next meeting to be in the home of Mrs. Fred Ray on Jan. 20 were made. The group will elect new officers then. A special guest at Thursday's meeting was Mrs. T. H. DeBois of Montana, who is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. L. D. Spencer.

Present for the pleasant affair were Mrs. John Adams, Mrs. John W. Fraley, Mrs. James Dralls, Mrs. Herbert Hayson, Mrs. Ernest Hill, Mrs. C. R. McGowan, Mrs. Herbert Parsons, Mrs. Fred Ray, Mrs. J. E. Sims, Mrs. L. D. Spencer, Mrs. Forrest White, Mrs. K. C. Loughton, Mrs. Clell L. Williamson, and the hostess, Mrs. Matics.

Bassett-Schrock Betrothal Revealed at Formal Tea

It was at a beautifully appointed formal tea and musicale at the Santa Ana Country club that impending nuptials of Miss Frances Bassett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Goodrich W. Bassett, and Frederick G. Schrock, son of the Rev. Perry Frederick Schrock of the First Congregational church, and Mrs. Schrock, were revealed to half a hundred friends of the popular young couple and their parents. Holiday season appointments of scarlet and silver were lent added color by the gorgeous chrysanthemums and roses sent the two charming hostesses by the Rev. Mr. Schrock and Mr. Bassett.

Joining with Mrs. Bassett and her daughter in the receiving line in the foyer were Mrs. Perry Frederick Schrock and Miss Mary Schrock. The bride-elect wore a frock of soft black velvet with gold accessories, while her mother was in apple green taffeta. Also assisting in hostess duties were Mrs. A. E. Miller, Mrs. L. M. Cutler of Los Angeles who is the groom-elect's aunt, and Mrs. Louise Kattelman, aunt of Miss Bassett.

Delightful music enhanced the hours during which guests called. Featured were Miss Eleanor Buckles and Miss Margaret Baxter at the piano, and Miss Nina June Robertson and Miss Marjane Belcher as charming vocal soloists. The latter two also joined in a duet number. Miss Charlotte Stafford added the finishing touch to a lovely program of classical numbers by playing two violin numbers to the accompaniment of David Craighead.

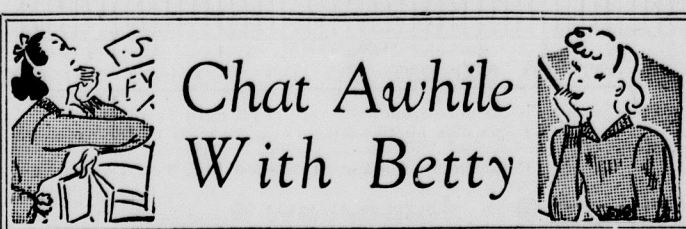

Presiding over the handsome tea table were Mrs. Cutting and Mrs. Kattelman, and the most intriguing part of their duties came with the serving of dainty scarlet and silver hearts linked together by a silver arrow on which were inscribed the words, "Frances and Fred, 1938."

Nuptials of the young couple will be an event of early summer, it was revealed, after Miss Bassett has completed her sophomore year at Santa Ana junior college. Mr. Schrock, connected with the Gilmore Oil Co. attended local schools and was graduated from the University of Southern California.

Among the many guests calling during the afternoon were Mrs. Bert Eddy and Miss Virginia Eddy, Miss Ann Sutherland Hicks, Carl Hopkins, W. S. Buchanan, Ivo McFarlane, Frank Cooley, R. E. Coulter, A. E. Miller, Emmett Elliott, and the Misses Myrtle Martin, Jean Treadwell, Betty Hill, Bernadine Helberg, Marjane Belcher, Nina June Robertson, Beatrice Miller, Elizabeth Robinson, Margaret Baxter, Charlotte Stafford, Jean McKamy, and Natalie Neff.

Santa Anans present were the Mesdames John Tessimann, William Knight, Norman Hicks, Carl Hopkins, W. S. Buchanan, Ivo McFarlane, Frank Cooley, R. E. Coulter, A. E. Miller, Emmett Elliott, and the Misses Myrtle Martin, Jean Treadwell, Betty Hill, Bernadine Helberg, Marjane Belcher, Nina June Robertson, Beatrice Miller, Elizabeth Robinson, Margaret Baxter, Charlotte Stafford, Jean McKamy, and Natalie Neff.

If March comes in like a lion and goes out like a lamb (or vice versa) what does it mean if the New Year is ushered in with that most acute of gastronomic distresses, ptomaine poisoning? Let's hope it means as joyous an end to 1938 as, say, Rose Bowl ducaats next year for the same thirty Country Club revellers who found themselves thus indisposed after a believe-it-or-not decorous and sane welcoming of the infant year. Ditto for Pauline and Toby White, who suffered the same affliction without even being near the gay spot.

They do tell us how it's the season for arsenic spraying, and perhaps that was the root of the evil. Having started with the most unpleasant details of the week, it's a simple matter to work up to all sorts of happy news. Chief among which is the joy of having Marcia and Kenny Price once more full-fledged Santa Anans. The Prices have taken up residence on South Flower street after having moved their prize porkers from their Fresno ranch down to the Price acres near here, and are creating incentive for all sorts of happy reunions. (Leaving, however, the pigs behind them.)

Good news, too, is that Dutch-blond Frances Fernandez is once again up and about after a long hospitalization, albeit somewhat weak and wobbly as yet. It'll still be a few weeks till she's as active as before, but the worst part is now far in the background. Speaking of illnesses, among those New Yearings was Wayne (Uncle Corny) Harrison, in the stages of his second defiance of medicine. First came when, caught with a very high fever in a San Francisco hotel and ordered to the hospital there, he calmly piled into his car and drove home, raging temperature and all. Second was when he decided the two weeks in bed were enough, and insisted on showing the visiting Coy Swindles a proper New Year's. Fortunately, the results in both cases were harmless.

Speaking of the cute little Mrs. Swindle, though—there's another of the famous Guild mistakes. For years I have been serenely referring to her as "Mrs. Tucker"—and several times have ascribed her frocks to the equally charming wife of Judge J. B. . . . Apologies all round.

By the same token, another correction of the printed word. Margaret Shearer is not Doug Pateron's sister, but his cousin. No wonder they don't look alike, as I so coyly remarked a few weeks ago. But while on the subject, it's understood that it won't be long till Margaret and Lloyd Shearer will be a second time married. An adorable and doll-like two-year-old Alice Marie.

New Year's came in various guises to various folk. Fred and Ruth Forgy passed the witching hour of the new year in the arms of the Calvin Flints who were among those mounting over the weekend. (Rose Marie still can't understand why she didn't acquire that notorious lusty appetite that she'd acquired in the arms of the higher altitudes. Helele, and Joel Ogle also went a-cabining, as did the offspring of the J. H. Pankeys while the latter were extending their famed hospitality to some 200 guests. By the way, you think I mean one of their cabin, the "Hankey-Pankey," is one of the best?)

Not having been with you to chat for night on to three weeks, thanks to the Saturday holidays, I can make reference still to Christmas do's I hope. One of the nicest of Yule surprises came with the unexpected advent of Wallace Scott, who flew in from Pensacola three days before Christmas to give his mother and sister the thrill of a time. They just calmly advanced their entire celebration to that night, because he had to leave the next morning. And amid ecstatically received surprise presents were two notable ones—a sizable legacy from out of the blue which arrived the morning of Dec. 31 for Molly Harvey (She'd never even seen the blessed aunt!)—and notification to Dana and Ginger Lamb from Harper Brothers that their book had been accepted for publication. It's to come out in May, and so the title is to be "Enraptured Voyage."

Granted that their celebrated canoe trip to South America was just that, it still sounds pretty Hallburton-ish to me. I like Yule's choice of "South of the Sun" much better.

Question for the week: Who was the prominent young man with a diabolic love of practical jokes who set off a giant firecracker in his conference host's fireplace last New Year's Eve while people's backs were turned—and was even more startled than they when half a dozen bricks cracked and came tumbling down?

Santa Anita with its glowing golden beds of caenulias, yellow pointing into deep gold, has been drawing the usual number of enthusiastic pony-players from the local social strata—but more of that next Saturday. I'm planning a descriptive saga, wherein all will be revealed in my usual charming verse. Which Reminds Me "Dapper" is a mean word, says Jimmie Utt. But I still think it fits—so what? During the depression they used to "hang" fraternity pins—but now diamonds are the vogue, even amid collegians, I'm told. Among proud wearers of sparklers on their fourth digits are Jean Marjorie, Frances Crowther, Mary Ann Baxter, Lorna Beary, Carnelle Swain, Marjorie Walton—and then, all those who've already made formal announcement.

The countless friends of valiant little Charlotte Elliott and her pretty Constance are happy to think of them doing their best to become readjusted in the pleasant Stanford university atmosphere of the home of Charlotte's brother, Richard La Piere. They expect to spend several months in the north. It's rumored that Edith Cloyes is back home from her Kansas City holiday trek, but she seems to be keeping herself scarce.

Highlights of the very-youngster set include the adorable two-room playhouse that the A. G. Flagg has given their big-eyed little granddaughter, Linda Huber. It's a really-true house, with six-foot ceilings and French windows and a real stove and sink. And in the center of each linoleum floor is a great big inlaid Donald Duck! And speaking of tap-dancers, talented slightly-older Betty Koster and Betty Courtney added to Santa Ana's fame last week by performing in a week's engagement at the Paramount theater in Los Angeles.

The good sisters out at St. Joseph's were quite sure someone was pulling a hoax when, one by one, seven respectable persons arrived to inspect the new son of Betty Dunton Smith and her husband, Clifford, and each one claimed to be a grandparent. They couldn't believe it was true—but the youngster does have seven living grandparents, starting with the youthful George Duntons, whose first grandchild he is.

Cutest gadget of the season—the revolving Christmas tree at the Lyman Farwells with its tinkling music box. Cutest sight of the week—Donald Button and Frances Finch placidly chewing gum on the stage during Jose Burib's Claremont concert. Most fun—do! that Big Apple (ask the Halls, Forgys, Finches, Wests, Stevens, etc.). Nicest personality—"Tad" Dunning. Smartest outfit seen—the big black mink and Russian fur coat of Edna Bell. Charming sight of the week—Mrs. Carl Klatt presenting her son Frank's bride to her friends, and Margaret Huber and Nora Flagg looking like twins in big poke-bonnets at the Country Club. Sad event—Catherine Cameron's many wisdom teeth extracted . . .

See you next Saturday—and tune in over KVOB Monday at 7:15 p. m. You'll get a thrill. BETTY GUILD.

JANUARY DATES REVEALED AT COUNTRY CLUB

Country club activities continue apace this month, with little or no letdown after holiday celebrations. First on the calendar for the new year is the evening bridge party scheduled for Friday, Jan. 14, at 8 o'clock.

The following Friday is the monthly afternoon bridge at 2 o'clock preceded by an optional luncheon. Plans do not call for a January junior dance, but on Friday, Jan. 28 is to be the monthly dance for members and guests.

Under the new plan, Mrs. Don Andrews is serving as January hostess, appointing committees for each of the events. She and Mr. Andrews will be host and hostess at this Sunday's regular buffet supper in the clubhouse.

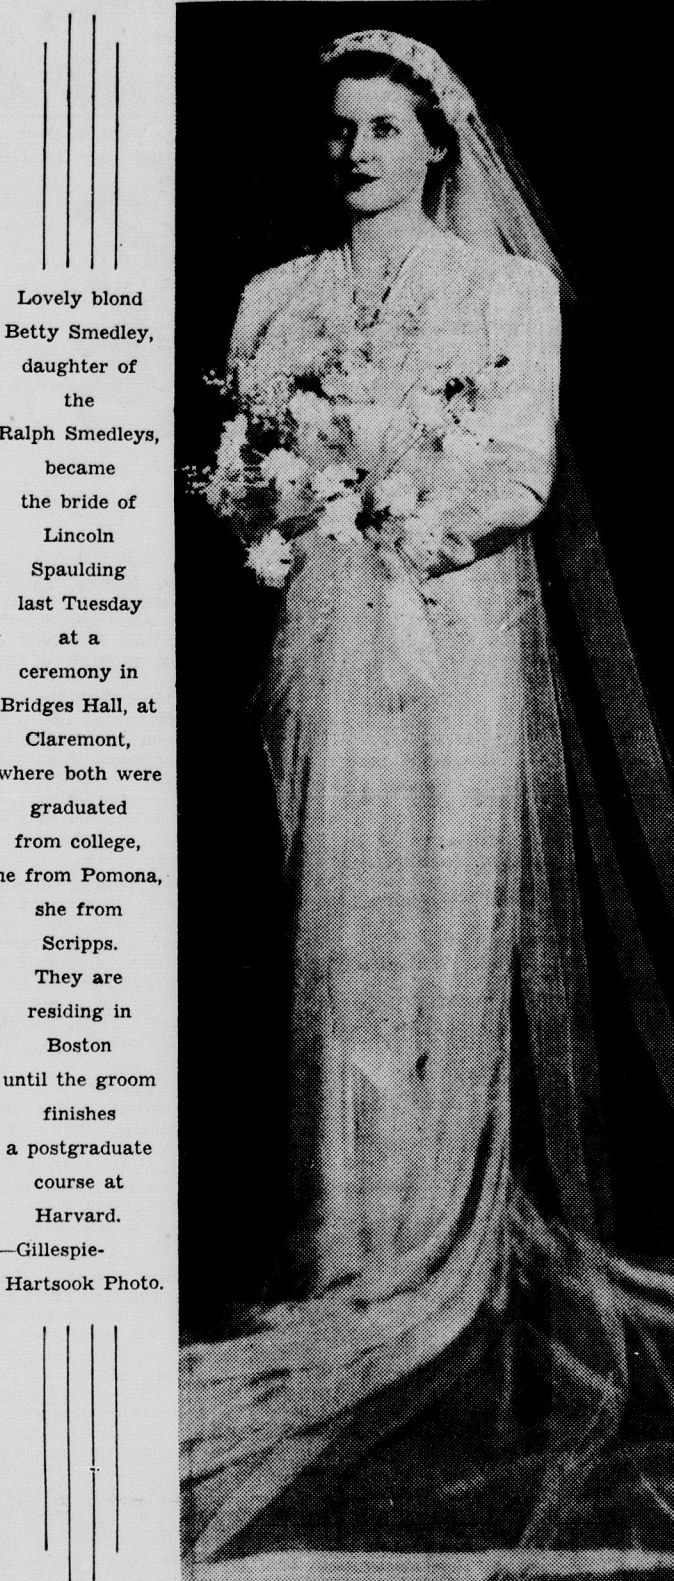

MONTANAN IS HONORED

Dr. and Mrs. F. K. Haiber, 1908 South Main street, honored Miss Mildred Ranum of Helena, Mont., last evening by entertaining her and a group of friends with a desert bridge party.

Tables were spread with gay Spanish cloths and set with bright pottery service for the serving of a delicious menu. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Turton, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McDonnell, Mr. and Mrs. James Wistenman, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Ranum and their houseguest Miss Mildred Ranum.

Contract section will have a dessert luncheon at 12:30 p. m., Friday, Jan. 14, in the clubhouse. Mrs. Nelle Hunt will resume her class, and those unable to attend should contact Mrs. J. L. Marshall, Mrs. L. E. Allen or Mrs. S. A. Moore, who will be the hostesses.

Campus Coeds Plan Frolics As Term Draws to An End

Gay informality will reign amid coeds of the Santa Ana Junior college next week when campus clubs, including the Sisterhood of Spinners, Las Meninas, Piloteers, Las Gitanas, and Moavs, will each participate in rollicking term-end parties. Scavenger hunts are the popular choice, and most of the groups will gather together Monday evening to complete plans for the affairs which will take place the following Friday and Saturday.

More serious business at each of the meetings, the first of the new year, will have to do with the "dollar drive," sponsored by Phi Theta Kappa, national honorary organization. Each service club has been asked to participate in this and all donations will go into the college student loan fund.

Spinners will convene Monday in the home of Miss Virginia Wilson, 505 North Glassell street, Orange. Formulated plans for their party the following Friday include a potluck supper to precede the scavenger hunt.

Miss Margie Lee Brown has charge of securing a home for the supper, Miss Virginia Wilson will obtain a barn for the hunt's climax, Miss Carolyn Davis is arranging for music, and Miss Gloria Kirchner will supervise dance refreshments.

Las Gitanas will have their scavenger hunt that same night, planning to start at the home of Miss Josephine Flaherty on South Broadway, and wind up at the Irvine ranch home of Miss Eleanor Cogan. Gitanas will meet in the women's lounge of the campus Monday night to nominate candidates for next semester officers, as well as to arrange their party plans. Committee-heads thus far named include Jayne Nalle, transportation; Mary Perkins, refreshments; and Helen Meyer, the scavenger list.

Moavs will meet Monday as usual, but have decided to delay their informal party until later in the spring. Miss Evelyn Richards said today. In the regular line of business, however, Penny Fair plans and committee heads will be discussed along with sponsoring a program to earn money for the dollar drive.

Miss Muriel Snyder, 708 West Pine street, will entertain Piloteers Monday evening, at which time plans will be completed for their scavenger party, scheduled for Saturday. Jean Russell is in charge of food for the affair, and Kitty Slawson, transportation.

Other affairs to occupy the attention of the Piloteers are a Mothers' tea to be held before finals, in charge of Anna May Archer and Jean Macauley; a snow party at Lake Arrowhead to be reported on by Merle Swingle and Dorothy Norwood; and Penny

MRS. EMISON HOSTESS TO BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. Richard Emison was hostess to her Tuesday Bridge club in the lovely new home of her mother, Mrs. E. G. Summers, at 2301 North Flower street. She was assisted in her hostessing duties by her sister, Mrs. Mona Summers Smith.

A table decorated with a bowl of flowering peach, and bowls of primroses and narcissi throughout the rooms gave a spring-like atmosphere for the delicious luncheon.

Because of illness among the members, only two tables were filled for the contract game that occupied the afternoon. Present were Mrs. Fred Forgy, Mrs. Horace Stevens, Mrs. John Ball, Mrs. Lawrence Coffing, Mrs. Rex Kennedy, Mrs. Dexter Ball, Mrs. Hugh Lowe, and Mrs. Baxter Jovenaut of Los Angeles, who was a guest at luncheon only.

Other affairs to occupy the attention of the Piloteers are a Mothers' tea to be held before finals, in charge of Anna May Archer and Jean Macauley; a snow party at Lake Arrowhead to be reported on by Merle Swingle and Dorothy Norwood; and Penny

Members of the Arbor Vitae club united on Thursday noon for a luncheon at the Doris Kathryn Tea shoppe, following which they enjoyed an informal afternoon of bridge.

A prizes was awarded to Mrs. Elma Swan for high score, and two floating awards were won by Mrs. Ed Grother and Mrs. Ray Walters. Others present were Mrs. Charles Hawthorne, Mrs. Peter McIntosh, Mrs. A. F. Lane, Mrs. G. N. Coon, Mrs. Leland Coon, Mrs. H. D. McIlvain, and Mrs. Mary Hertert.

Fair plans, which are in charge of Ruth Budd and Muriel Snyder.

Possibility of a skating party for their informal semester-climax will be discussed by Las Meninas when they meet Monday night at the home of Miss Barbara Speed, 2315 Santiago street. Business will include naming of a nominating committee.

County Pair Wed in Home Ceremony

At quiet and impressive rites performed in the beautiful home of the Lotus H. Loudons, 712 North Clementine street, Anaheim, yesterday afternoon, Mildred Loudon, attractive daughter of the home, became the bride of John Donald Taggart, also of Anaheim.

A large window of the home was artistically banked with white flowers in tall spray arrangements, with fern, palms, and many lighted candelabra. The entire lighting effects for the ceremony was provided by flickering candles.

The pretty bride wore a smart afternoon frock of navy blue, with navy blue accessories in the spring manner. Her sister added a matching coat for her travelling costume. She also wore a corsage arrangement of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Alma Stroud of Bakersfield attended the bride as matron of honor, wearing a frock of spring print. Her corsage was also of gardenias. Howard Loudon, brother of the bride was best man, and Lotus H. Loudon gave his daughter away.

Music for the rites was played by Mrs. Kate McCullah, who also accompanied Mrs. Ray Fisher in several lovely ballads preceding the ceremony. The Rev. H. G. Schmelzer, pastor of the Zion Evangelical Lutheran church, officiated.

Later the entire group of 30 family relatives and intimate friends of the young couple, moved into the adjoining dining room, which was also candle-lit, for an informal reception. Sandwiches and wedding cake were served wedding style. Mrs. Loudon, mother of the bride, wore a dark blue jacket dress of printed silk with a gardenia corsage, and Mrs. Paul Taggart, mother of the groom, wore a dark frock, also with gardenias.

The couple left for an extended trip into Mexico, following which they will return to Anaheim to make their home. Mr. Taggart is associated with the Douglas Air plant at Santa Monica.

The new bride is a graduate of Anaheim High school and Santa Ana Junior college where she was a member of Spinners service club. She has also been active in Delta Theta Chi study club. The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Taggart of Anaheim, attended Anaheim High school, Marysville High school, and was graduated from Sacramento Junior college.

STUDENT IS INCENTIVE FOR PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stewart, 2701 West Fifth street, honored their son Elbert Stewart, who is home from the University of California at Berkeley, with a party for neighborhood friends in their home on Thursday evening.

The amusement for the affair was monopoly and prizes were won by Mrs. Harry Pritchard, Lays Patterson, Will Walters, and Earl Paterson. After the evening of fun, light refreshments were served, and Elbert Stewart explained that he will return to Berkeley on next Wednesday. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Will Walters, Mrs. Earl Paterson, Billy and Lays Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harper and son Jack, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pritchard and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Martin.

VETERAN GROUP HAS MEETING

Veteran Rebekahs gathered in the lodge rooms of the I.O.O.F. hall yesterday afternoon for one of their pleasantly informal affairs, responding to roll call with individual resolutions for the new year.

Members planned to entertain their husbands and friends at the next meeting of the group scheduled for Feb. 4. It will be an all-day meeting with a dinner at noon.

Visitors at yesterday's meeting were Mrs. Lon Engelhaupt and Mrs. Julia E. Welch of Lincoln, Neb., and Mrs. May Kellogg, also of Nebraska.

ARBOR VITAE MEMBERS LUNCH

Members of the Arbor Vitae club united on Thursday noon for a luncheon at the Doris Kathryn Tea shoppe, following which they enjoyed an informal afternoon of bridge.

A prizes was awarded to Mrs. Elma Swan for high score, and two floating awards were won by Mrs. Ed Grother and Mrs. Ray Walters. Others present were Mrs. Charles Hawthorne, Mrs. Peter McIntosh, Mrs. A. F. Lane, Mrs. G. N. Coon, Mrs. Leland Coon, Mrs. H. D. McIlvain, and Mrs. Mary Hertert.

Fair plans, which are in charge of Ruth Budd and Muriel Snyder.

Possibility of a skating party for their informal semester-climax will be discussed by Las Meninas when they meet Monday night at the home of Miss Barbara Speed, 2315 Santiago street. Business will include naming of a nominating committee.

HOOVER P-T. A. ENJOYS SYMPOSIUM

A particularly detailed and interesting symposium on building up the right attitude between home and the school was enjoyed by members of Hoover Parent-Teacher association when they met Thursday.

Miss Hubertine Kuneman was introduced by Mrs. John J. Vernon, president of the organization, and she in turn presented each of the speakers.

Mrs. S. B. Marshall of Tustin launched the symposium, stressing the reaction in the school from lack of security in the home, emphasizing the importance of truth training. Arnold Lund, physical education teacher at Willard, followed, discussing physical welfare, courage, self-sacrifice and pride as essential subjects of education in both home and school.

Robert Farrar, assistant vice-principal of the high school, discussed broadly good attitude in the home, the community, church and the school showing how all are inter-dependent, and stressing the need for education in regard to respecting property rights.

Miss Nora Reid, Lathrop counselor, concluded the round table, declaring that a child's attitude is molded from birth, and that every happening influences his attitude toward success, new experiences, security, and response to life's problems.

The meeting was concluded with a refreshments course served by Mrs. Walter Sorenson, Mrs. S. Rhoades and Mrs. J. M. Fenstad.

NEWLYWEDS TO LIVE IN COSTA MESA

Quiet simplicity marked the wedding rites of Miss Yvonne Helene Volck and Walter R. Marchbank Thursday morning, when the Rev. Father J. I. Lehane officiated at St. Mary's Catholic church in Fullerton.

A bridal costume was worn by Miss Volck, with white rosebuds and sweet peas setting off her frock of white taffeta and filmy veil. Miss Lora Marchbank carried pink sweet peas to contrast with her maid of honor gown of pale blue taffeta.

Carl Bastardy was best man for the groom, who is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Marchbank of Artesia. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Joseph Volck.

After a honeymoon at Lake Arrowhead, Mr. and Mrs. Marchbank will live in Costa Mesa.

GROUP INSTALLS OFFICIALS

New officials were installed when members of the Standard Life association met Thursday evening for their regular meeting. Arthur A. Patterson of Walnut Park was installing officer, graciously assisted by Mrs. J. L. White, wife of the state manager of the order.

During a dignified and impressive service, the following officers

Following the close of the meeting, refreshments were served and games were played.

There's bound to be plenty of sure-fire humor packed into Jack Haley's Log Cabin Jambores tonight—9:30 p. m. from KFI—thanks to Tillie, the "Joke Meter," who lays an egg everytime a bad joke is told. Haley has already tested all the jokes on her this week—she is reported to have flooded the egg market—and she'll be his guest during the program just to see that none of the bad ones slip in. (NBC-RED Network, 9:30 to 10:00 p. m., P. S. T.)

Phil Baker will conduct another of his goofy interviews, this time with Jack Benny's violin, during his broadcast with Bottle, Beetle, Lucille Ball, Al Gar, and Oscar Bradley's orchestra over the KNX Columbia Network tomorrow at 4:30 p. m.

Stories of little known, interesting facts about great events in history, and human interest side-lights on great personages are brought to KFOV, the Hal Nichols station, each Saturday evening from 8:45-9:00 via CRS by the Lamplighter, J. J. Colbert.

Mr. Colbert, world traveler, student of international affairs, makes these return visits to KFOV after an absence of several months.

The second of the new series of Sunday night programs entitled "Songs at Eventide" and featuring the tenor voice of G. Willard Bassett, with Ruth Armstrong at the console of the pipe organ, will be heard on KVOE tomorrow night at 9 o'clock.

The first program last Sunday brought an enthusiastic response from many listeners throughout Orange county. Tomorrow night's presentation, comprising requests for favorite hymns, sacred and secular songs, will include His Eye Is on the Sparrow, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," "When They Ring the Golden Bells For You and Me," and "The Lost Chord."

Johnny the Call Boy presents music in the "Morgan manner" and a "Front Page News" dramatization over the KNX Columbia network tonight, from 8:30 to 9:00 p. m. Russ Morgan's orchestra will play popular tunes of the day and Charles Martin will direct the dramatic sketch, based on an incident from the career of a reporter.

"Crossing the Red Sea," one of the most thrilling of all stories from the Old Testament, will be done with reverence by the "Sunday Players" over KEHE tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. This offering tells of the children of Israel, who cornered between the Red Sea and the Charioteers of Pharaoh, call for a miracle to happen. The Red Sea parts and they pass through safely. John Prince, veteran Shakespearean actor, plays the role of Moses, and should make this highly dramatic fare for the listeners.

Mickey Scores Hit

By TOM E. DANSON

Through the medium of telegrams, long-distance telephone calls and letters, an entire nation this week paid tribute to the artistic genius of Walt Disney, a genius that made a million dollar industry out of a cartoonist's brain-child.

The reason, of course, was the long-awaited premier of the Mickey Mouse Theater of the Air, which debuted over the NBC network Sunday.

DONALD DUCK

When Mickey, Minnie, Donald Duck and the entire gang added radio to their accomplishments, they created a new standard of entertainment—a fantasy of the airways.

This marked the first time on record that a program of pure fantasy had been aired—and it drew one of the most favorable audience reactions ever given a coast-to-coast show. Listen to them tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 p. m. from KFI.

One of radio's pioneer human interest programs, "The Court of Human Relations" will reach the Pacific Coast air audience starting tomorrow afternoon from 1:00 to 1:30 on KVOE and the Don Lee Mutual Network. The programs, originating in New York, will be heard weekly thereafter at the same time.

Opening an official office and installing "Suzabell" as secretary, Joe Penner brings plans for his "Penner Playhouse" to completion during the broadcast over KNX and the Columbia Network tomorrow from 8:00 to 8:30 p. m.

A million-dollar cowpath that still exists in the heart of Chicago, the strange way in which Luther Burbank began his career as a plant wizard; and the fact that modern streamlined trains are dependent upon the old Roman chariots, in at least one respect—those are the subjects of the three sketches to be presented on the John Hix "Strange As It Seems" program from KNX at 3:00 p. m. tomorrow.

There's bound to be plenty of sure-fire humor packed into Jack Haley's Log Cabin Jambores tonight—9:30 p. m. from KFI—thanks to Tillie, the "Joke Meter," who lays an egg everytime a bad joke is told. Happy Birthday

Today The Journal congratulates the following on the anniversary of their birthdays:

ANNA MARGARET BELL, 2015 North Broadway.

THEODORE CORCORAN, 613 Golden avenue, Fullerton.

MRS. FLORENCE HARMER, 412 Vance street.

And for tomorrow to:

MRS. J. F. WALTON, Anaheim.

FRANCIS HARVEY, 806 Lacy street.

ERNEST F. MARKS, 1124 North Bristol street.

PATSY RUTH MAY, 510 West Highland street.

MRS. J. W. HANCOCK, 1101 North Ross street.

BEVERLY JOYCE GEHRIG, 812 West Sixth street.

Making way for President Roosevelt's Jackson day dinner address tonight, beginning at 6:30 on KVOE, John B. Hughes' News and Views" will be moved to 7 o'clock, to be followed at 7:15 by Frank Bull and his "Sports Bull's Eyes." These changes in time are for tonight only.

The celebrated Indianapolis Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Fabian Sevitsky, will broadcast another exclusive concert over the nationwide Mutual network tonight and will be heard on KVOE and stations of the Don Lee network, beginning at 7:30.

The orchestra, composed of 80 men, will play Beethoven's Symphony No. 8 in F major; Bruch's Concerto for violin with Lea Lebuschitz, soloist; Mozart's Eine Nacht in St. Petersburg; "The Lone Prairie," and Stravinsky's Fire Bird Suite.

At last Ed Lowry has received due recognition as an inventor! Since his ingenious invention, the "Gobackus," was introduced to the public on a recent "Singtime" program, Lowry has been asked to play host to interested representatives of the Smithsonian institution tonight when "Singtime" is aired via KVOE and the Don Lee network between 6 and 6:30 p. m.

Designed by Lowry to permit the radio audience to re-dial any previously aired musical selection, the "Gobackus" will be again demonstrated on this occasion by Bobby Gilbert and his "talking fiddle." Radio listeners will have the unprecedented treat of hearing the song Nero played while Rome burned.

An imposing list of younger file stars will join George Jessel to celebrate Collegiate day on his "30 Minutes in Hollywood" program, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock on KVOE and the coast-to-coast Mutual-Don Lee network. Among his many guests will be Paula Stone, Johnny Downs, Eleanor Whitney, Mary Carlisle, Benny Baker and Noah Beery, Jr.

Also participating in the collegian celebration will be Norma Talmadge, a regular member of the cast on the weekly broadcasts.

Entering the under-graduate spirit, Tommy Tucker and his orchestra will present a group of special arrangements of favorite college airs, and will accompany Amy Arnell, songstress, and 7-year-old Josephine Starr in contrasting song selections.

Details of the eight thousand dollar Los Angeles open golf tournament which enters its third day tomorrow, will be described to KVOE dialers both from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. and between 4:35 and 4:45 p. m.

The tournament, famous as one of the richest events on the international annual calendar of golf-dom, will be described by Homer Welborn, noted sportscaster.

Idaho, the "Gem of the Mountains," takes its turn as the honored state on the Don Lee feature, "Reunion of the States," tomorrow afternoon from 3:30 to 4 on KVOE. Idaho native, Harry A. Lawson, president of the Idaho State society of Southern California, will represent his home state on this occasion.

Selecting the life of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shirley Walgamott, early Twin Falls settlers, the weekly dramatization will disclose the struggles of pioneers in this northernmost point of the Rocky mountain states.

Offering compositions ranging from Victor Herbert's to Bach's, the famous Hancock ensemble will present another concert of string music on KVOE tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock.

MINISTERS TO HOLD TWO DAY SESSION

A two-day meeting conducted by Dr. Samuel W. Zwemer, D. D., of New York City, will be presented in the First Methodist Episcopal church, Sixth and Spurgeon streets, on Thursday and Friday, under the auspices of the Santa Ana Ministerial association.

Pastors of Orange county and their wives will meet at 4 p. m. on Thursday, followed by a dinner at 6 p. m. Two public meetings will be held at 7:30 p. m. on Thursday and Friday.

Dr. Zwemer is the son of a minister, and entered Arabia in the '90s when it was a no-man's land. For 30 years he was the most experienced traveler of the desert wastes. When the World War broke out, Lawrence of Arabia used Zwemer's library and maps to help forces from Egypt to the last great conquest of Palestine.

Not only a traveler, member of the Royal Geographic society, Dr. Zwemer is also a scholar. Master of half a score languages, ancient and modern, Dr. Zwemer has written for all the recognized religious and missionary journals, and has published many books.

He is appearing in Santa Ana during the "World Dominion Movement," a western tour on missionary conferences.

GRANGE WINS SCHOOL FIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Attorney General U. S. Webb ruled today that the Pomona Grange was entitled to free use of a school building in Stanislaus county providing its meetings were open to the public.

Webb told District Attorney Leslie A. Cleary that a 1937 amendment to the state law governing use of school buildings, extended their free use to "farmer's organizations."

He said, however, that the restriction against private or secret meetings meant the organization must leave the doors open to the public.

What shall I do? I try to give him up but he seems so unhappy and because I love him I always go back to him. Try to advise me, Mary. You have helped so many others I feel certain you can help me.

DOUBTFUL

You are facing a very grave problem, indeed. I feel that marrying a boy so much younger than yourself would be a grave problem aside from the race question. And then there's the parental objection. And you did not say what the attitude of the boy's parents was toward the marriage.

If you felt the boy's affections would not change when you are much older and that you cared enough for him to give up your parents and relatives and live far away from all your acquaintances you might make a success of it, but I feel it would be a mistake to try to live near home under such conditions.

I do not like to discourage you since you feel you are so hopelessly in love, but I know of a parallel case that did not turn out happily and it may help you to decide.

Young friends of mine married under similar circumstances and after three stormy months of quarreling over the attitude of her parents toward her marriage which was an elopement, they separated and are now seeking a divorce as the only solution.

W. C. T. U. TO MEET

Members of the W. C. T. U. will meet at 2 p. m., Tuesday, Jan. 11, in the First Congregational church bungalow. Mrs. R. W. Jones of El Modena will speak on "Peace," and the meeting will be open to all.

JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES

Public meeting Sunday at 7:45 p. m. Watch Tower study, 7:30 p. m., Wednesday. Service meeting at 7:45 p. m., Friday in Hoffman hall, Fourth and Porter streets. Bible studies held in various homes of the community.

OUR LADY OF GUADALUPE

During the coming weeks the various church school lessons are being taken from the Gospel of Mark. The question is sometimes asked, wherein does the Gospel of Mark differ from the other three gospels—do they not all cover the same ground? There does seem to be some repetition of the same material, but it is not a repetition with the same purpose.

Though somewhat biographical in style, none of the gospels has attempted a life of Christ from that standpoint. A gospel is the record or telling of good news—here the good news of Jesus Christ, His person, coming, teaching and work. Matthew seems to have written more especially to the Jews—of the King and the kingdom. Luke writes more to the Greeks who were the people of learning, philosophy and culture and presents Jesus as the ideal man, the man of wisdom, the Great Teacher. John, seeming not to have written to any particular race or nation but to Christians of all races, presents Jesus as the Divine One. Mark is different from the other gospels and evidently was written to the Romans with their characteristics in mind. They stood for action, power, law, accomplishment, authority. Their ideal character must be one who could do things. Jesus is presented as a man of action. "Straightway" and "Immediately" are often used. In Mark we find Jesus to be the Great Servant, the servant of God and the servant of man; the Mighty Worker, the man of deeds and accomplishment. Let us bear this in mind as we study throughout the coming weeks about Jesus as the Great Servant and the Example Servant that we as servants are to follow.

The topic of this week's lesson is Preparing for a Life of Service, with the scripture basis found in Mark 1:1-13. Here we have Mark's account of "the beginning of the gospel of Jesus Christ." This beginning, he tells us, was the preaching of John the Baptist. Here we have the greatest character of all history, and His great forerunner bearing testimony to the greatness of His person. This witnessing was the great purpose of John's life and to this service his life was dedicated.

It is interesting to note that both Jesus and John spent their first thirty years in obscurity and preparation, and that they were in public life but a few brief years—yet they did the greatest and most successful work of all men.

How different from the scores today who rush into early public service without the needed "tarrying" for preparation and now struggle with difficulty and accomplish so little. In these days of rush and hurry, none of us waits long enough to "grow" as we should. Mark began with the ministry of John which was to "prepare the way" and introduce Jesus to the people. There was a preparation needed and He did not come until this was made. And the same premise holds true relative to His coming into the hearts and lives of people today. The work wants Christ today, whether in China, Spain, America, our business, homes or individual lives. He will surely come if the preparation is made, the first requisite of which is a sincere desire!

In John's crying to prepare the way, he said (Y. 3) "make His path straight." There must be a straightening out, a getting rid of moral crookedness! John's mission seems to have been a great success and he soon became "page one"

Mary Stoddard Should This Young Woman Wed Younger Man, Despite Many Differences?

Responsibility—and a person's ability to assume it—may play an important part in the lives of all of us. I feel certain that any young people considering such a grave step as marriage, should stop first to consider the problems they must face, either because of finances, parental objections, religion or race differences. But, on the other hand, I do not believe these same young people should so completely subjugate their actions to what is the "right thing to do." Many times these people could find their happiness and work out the problems as they must face them. But—there must be a complete understanding first.

Dear Miss Stoddard: I am in love with a boy 18 years old and although he knows that I am 22 he wants to marry me. My family are very strongly opposed to the match and if I do accept him I must elope.

Tell me, Miss Stoddard, would I be foolish to believe that a boy so young knows his own mind in the matter of love. He seems like a much older person and is taken for my age by everyone. He has a good job and seems capable. I feel that I will never love anyone else, yet when I think of the difference in our ages I am afraid to take a chance.

There is another reason why I should not marry him. We are of different race and my family are of the old fashioned type who do not even speak American except when strangers are present. I feel sure he is too proud to want to associate with them and will be ashamed of my mother who talks broken English.

What shall I do? I try to give him up but he seems so unhappy and because I love him I always go back to him. Try to advise me, Mary. You have helped so many others I feel certain you can help me.

DOUBTFUL

You are facing a very grave problem, indeed. I feel that marrying a boy so much younger than yourself would be a grave problem aside from the race question. And then there's the parental objection. And you did not say what the attitude of the boy's parents was toward the marriage.

If you felt the boy's affections would not change when you are much older and that you cared enough for him to give up your parents and relatives and live far away from all your acquaintances you might make a success of it, but I feel it would be a mistake to try to live near home under such conditions.

I do not like to discourage you since you feel you are so hopelessly in love, but I know of a parallel case that did not turn out happily and it may help you to decide.

Young friends of mine married under similar circumstances and after three stormy months of quarreling over the attitude of her parents toward her marriage which was an elopement, they separated and are now seeking a divorce as the only solution.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

ANIMAL OR VEGETABLE? ... place. From the back of its neck a slender plant rises, growing to a height of six to eight inches. Its roots imbed themselves in the caterpillar, sucking therefrom the animal's "life-blood" and filling every crevice with faithful accuracy. The result is a plant whose root has assumed the shape of an animal, and which actually has grown out of it! This remarkable transformation is almost unparalleled in nature, except by one or two instances where an almost identical process takes place. The explanation of this freak of nature is that spores of a fungus, Sophocria roberti, fasten to the back of the aweto caterpillar's head, where a sticky liquid issues from its body. Pluto, most recently discovered of the planets, revolves around the sun in 248 years.

DEATH ASKED FOR KIDNAPER

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP)—Prosecutor John Beaton declared today he would demand that William Chester Marcum, 30, unemployed New Castle, Ind., carpenter, be sentenced to death in the electric chair for his part in the Christmas Eve kidnaping of four persons at Centerville, Ind.

Marcum, arrested Tuesday, was to be arraigned today on kidnaping charges, punishable by life imprisonment, or death in the chair.

Private funeral services for Harry C. Walter, 52, of Muncie, admitted partner in the crime who committed suicide Wednesday in the Wayne county jail, were held yesterday.

Police contended the slaying was motivated by robbery. Wilhelm was accused of binding Tomaya's wrists and ankles with a cord and slugging him to death with a rolling pin.

Don't lacquer your curls or put stiff substances on your hair, he says. It's not good for the hair—especially if you do it often.

"My principle," he adds, "is to give life to the hair. That means good washing and sometimes a little rinse."

For white and blonde hair Guillaume advises using a rinse of slight blue or cyclamen tint. Auburn and gold tints he reserves for darker hair.

Most of the ornaments he uses are clips arranged at the top of the head. There's a narrow scroll of blue ribbon, with feathers, for the woman with bright blue eyes or a cyclamen made of cloudy glass for the fragile blonde.

And there's a small old-fashioned bouquet of violets—meant to match a similar corsage at the waist—for the Southern belle.

Bright blue velvet morning glories have streamers of light blue algebras. The flowers are fastened to a clip which is concealed in a cluster of curls piled high on the head.

NAVY FLOUR

BIDS SCORED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Navy officers puzzled today over the apparent lack of desire of millers to sell flour to the navy.

Not one bid was received in response to a proposal to purchase 250,000 pounds. Asserting they were without an explanation, officials said they would advertise again.

Four millers submitted bids Dec. 22 when the last previous purchase was made at approximately 2 1/2 cents a pound.

Difficulties over the Walsh-Healy act's wage and hour stipulations, which resulted last year in the refusal of copper and steel manufacturers to bid on navy contracts, were not involved in the flour purchases, officials said.

MARKETS—CITRUS

Weekly Citrus Review

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—California oranges and lemons were again lower in the auction markets during the past week.

California navel oranges dipped 11 cents to make an auction average for the week of $2.26 per box, while the volume was up 26 cars to a total of 262.

Lemons were down 28 cents a box to make an auction market average of $4.71. Volume on this variety was at 112 cars for the week, nine more than a week ago.

W. C. Frackelton, manager for the California-Arizona orange and grapefruit marketing agency, announced next week's prorata as follows: In interstate commerce, 320 cars of navel oranges from California, 480 from southern California and one from Arizona.

In intrastate commerce, prorates were 60 cars of navel oranges from central California and 90 from southern California.

A hearing on the adoption and formulation of a citrus marketing agreement under the federal AAA will be held in Lakeland, Fla., on Jan. 17.

The federal government is offering to purchase for relief purposes 150 cars of oranges in California soon.

Pacific coast citrus markets were weaker on both oranges and lemons during the week, the federal-state market news service reported today.

Prices on the coast on the two varieties are generally slightly higher than the fob prices in the eastern auction centers.

The California Fruit Growers exchange, reporting for the week on both private and auction sales markets, says:

"Volume of orange sales was about 50 per cent above the previous week with prices practically unchanged."

"Florida orange and grapefruit shipments continue heavy, being estimated at 2000 cars of oranges and 800 cars of grapefruit for the week ending Jan. 15. Texas grapefruit shipments exceeded those from Florida during the first week of the year."

"The market on California-Arizona grapefruit is unchanged and lemons are easier to lower with volume of sales holding up well."

Orange averages per box for the week, with comparative figures for last week and the corresponding weeks of 1937 and 1936, follow:

Another Bit of Testimony

For a long, long time, reaching back perhaps to the ice age, mankind has cherished the idea of personal immortality.

And never during all that long span of years has man ever been able to produce any proof, other than his own belief, (if you wish to call that proof) that there is an after-life.

Nevertheless, most of us have derived some satisfaction from the knowledge that people of all races and of all degrees of intelligence and culture for centuries have shared this ideal of a continuing identity, of a soul which is imperishable. The very fact that the human mind is able, and apparently from the earliest times has been able, to formulate the idea of immortality is in itself possibly some indication that immortality does prevail.

It is interesting then to note that as lucid a thinker, as calm and disciplined a mind, as Newton D. Baker shared this almost universal concept.

At the funeral of the late Mr. Baker in Cleveland, Ohio, Bishop Warren Lincoln Rogers read a portion of a letter Mr. Baker had written to a friend not long before his death. "My mind has adhered to the idea of immortality and I think the idea has grown more rational as I have grown older," the letter said. "I am very sure that God in His wisdom has some plans which perfect our spirits for participation in a higher kind of life."

Again, this testimony proves nothing, yet it cannot fail to be a solace to many a fellow human.

Jim Farley says his postoffice made a $12,000,000 profit in 1937. Doesn't that make him or it an economic royalist?

FDR Should Side With People

It is a miserable human weakness for those who have their hands on power to want to retain and strengthen their grip.

In view of this fact, it is easy to understand why President Roosevelt and many of the politicians at his beck and call in Washington are so dead set against giving to the 130,000,000 people of these United States the right to decide for themselves whether they want to be killed in a foreign war.

The President—and the politicians, lobbyists, militarists, big business groups and other pressure factions—want to preserve their power or influence for throwing the common citizen into a foreign war.

Such a dictatorial attitude may be according to Hoyle in Germany, Japan or Italy, where the people are merely stooges for a gang of tyrants.

It was all right perhaps in the days of Caesar, Ghenghis Khan and Attila. But, thank God, civilized thinkers in a few of the great modern democracies have made some progress since those bloody times.

The 130,000,000 citizens of the United States have enough brains to decide for themselves if they want to be shot, blown to bits, gassed, smothered, burned, bayoneted or mutilated in a strange and foreign land.

They should have that right as it is outlined in the Ludlow war referendum amendment. President Roosevelt should fight for, instead of against, this peace amendment.

There's a move to photograph all voters in Kansas City. That's because Kansas City has so many more votes than it has voters.

Slowly, Tragically

Maybe 1000 more editorials must be written on the subject; perhaps a million more lives must be sacrificed—But in the end there will be pedestrian and bicycle paths paralleling main highways.

In the meantime, while the slaughter of innocents proceeds, there will be drives for more effective lighting, laws compelling pedestrians to wear clothing of a certain color on the highways, drivers will be sent to jails and penitentiaries for being unduly heedless.

And in the end some state highway department will set a very sensible style for footpaths—and, after that, the millennium.

There are a few jobs paying from $8000 to $17,500 open in the federal government. These are in the political, not civil service section.

Wind Becalmed

"Back east" there has been a little discussion lately concerning the origin of the phrase, "Gone with the wind," which, as everyone knows, is the title of one of the most popular books of recent years.

One discussor calls it "An inspiration, if there ever was one," and another quotes one of the Psalms: "As for man, his days are as grass; as a flower of the field, so he flourisheth. For the wind passeth over it, and it is gone."

Interesting even if not important. And it leads one to wonder what has become of Hollywood's plan to movieize the story. S'pose the plan has gone with the wind?

There's just one drawback to the slogan, "See All the West in 1939." It can't be done in just one year.

Our Apology to Mr. Layton

Yesterday the editor of this newspaper criticized Councilman Ernest Layton, head of the streets department, for the inadequate lighting along South Main street. Since publication of the editorial, we have learned that Mr. Layton is not to blame.

Mr. Layton, we are now informed, has spent all the present budget allows on city lighting in order to provide citizens with more illumination. He is interested in and anxious for more lights.

We deeply regret our unfair criticism and hereby retract it.

Why the Fuss Over Lynching Legislation?

By Westbrook Pegler

Sudden death is common in this country, where the automobile killed 38,000 last year and the homicide list normally amounts to around 12,000, a total just about equal to the roll of Americans who were killed or died of wounds in the big war. Yet, in the name of humanity, the work of the national senate is being held up for another long, time-killing debate on a bill to provide penalties for lynchings, of which there were only eight in 1937.

What is the urgency of this bill that it must take precedence over every other problem in a country which is just barely under control anyway? And is any vice which has claimed fewer than 5000 victims in 50 years and an average of less than 14 a year in the last decade, deserving of such importance?

Lynching is a declining sport even in the south, where, 30 years ago, it was a matter of such familiar routine in the news that the press telegraph operators on the southern leg devised an informal addition to the Phillips code, the XYZ sign, which meant "a posse in pursuit of the negro, and if caught he will surely be lynched."

In recent years the totals have fallen so low that to argue that lynching is a national concern is to persist blindly and obstinately in behalf of a mere contention. The reason for his bill has shrunk so small by now that, even allowing for revivals, as in the year 1933, when twenty-eight were lynched, it is obvious that the evil is being cured by local processes.

CASE OF PREJUDICE

Nevertheless, the proponents of the anti-lynching bill, underwritten by the filibuster in the recent special session, are unimpressed by the importance of legislation bearing on the mess in which the country finds itself, insist on immediate action in the face of a threat by southern senators to talk it to death if it takes six months.

There is no doubt that prejudice against the enlightened advocates of the bill is the reason for special objection by the southern members.

To them and their constituents this bill proposes another damnable intrusion in their local affairs. It implies that the south is a barbarous land in need of special policing by the federal government, which left a very bad impression the last time it gave special attention to law and order in the south.

It would have no practical application in Maine or Vermont, which are not represented in the lynching statistics as far back as 1889, and other northern states would be only slightly affected.

It contains the sly spirit of the South's own Jim Crow laws, which forbid white people to frequent certain quarters and thus segregate the negro.

On the other hand, it is hard to credit the advocates of the bill with entire sincerity. It has been used as a political bait in crowded northern negro centers, and it was, moreover, the support of those who deplore a lynching but can always find reasons why the killings in the Russian purge are not individual tragedies but mere incidents in the struggle of a great new nation beset on all sides by ruthless conspirators.

And I question the humanitarianism of any professional or semi-pro bleeding heart who clamors that not a single person must be allowed to hunger but would stall the entire legislative program in a fight to jam through a law intended, at the most optimistic figure, to save 14 lives a year.

MIGHT NOT SAVE LIVES

Actually, it might not save any lives. The decline of lynching shows that the lives are being saved by a rising sense of responsibility in the southern sheriff and other local causes and, anyway, the prisoners might be convicted and executed.

This law would only prosecute and attempt to convict a negligent or cowardly sheriff and would impose financial liability up to $10,000 on the guilty county itself. And, like as not, Washington would then give the county the money to pay the indemnity.

To some of us in the north, the bill is an amusing revenge. Southern public opinion and southern statesmen 15 years ago were strong advocates of national prohibition as a means of keeping the negro apart from the fo-bit bottle of square face on Saturday nights and preserving their local peace. They were then ready to acknowledge the right of the federal government to suppress local habits of the north, much less harmful than the lynching custom, and the constantly urged the government to reconstruct us according to their ideas.

put your finger on the incident that led to your good fortune. One time a big steel magnate came through my home town and he happened to visit our school. He noticed a boy pickin' up a pin so he called the boy over and said "when you get through school I want you to come to see me and I'll put you to work." So the boy did, and he became a millionaire. Not long ago he sent one of his old schoolmates a check for $10,000 and he said "I owe this to you because if I hadn't hated you so much, I never would've been seen pickin' up that pin to put on your seat."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Bob Jackson definitely Roosevelt's candidate for New York governor; "kill that tiger" mood of anti-Tammany group; Farley stepped aside; Norris move for TVA probe is new deal crackdown on Chairman Morgan; silver senators knew of price change despite treasury's precaution.

WASHINGTON.—It is now an open secret that Robert H. Jackson, fighting assistant attorney general who has so aroused the ire of big business, is the President's candidate to be governor of New York next November.

This was taken up in an inner council meeting last week and definitely decided. That meeting, however, took a long time and quite a little maneuvering before it came to pass. Reason was the President's loyalty to Jim Farley, his big, bald, go-down-the-line postmaster general.

Jim long has nursed private ambitions to be governor of New York. As a boy he played baseball along the shores of the Hudson, became political boss of his town, has wanted to round out his career by sitting in the governor's mansion farther up the Hudson. Unfortunately, Jim has certain political handicaps, one of them being his religion, the other being his former association with Tammany—an organization which of late does not sit so well with New York voters.

All of this deterred the President from throwing his influence one way or the other in the New York situation.

KILL THAT TIGER
Meanwhile his New York friends, especially the Le Guardettes, were urging him to take a stand. They pointed out that Governor Lehman's banker brother-in-law had his eye on Albany, that Tammany was trying to rise up out of its ashes, and that if he acted quickly Roosevelt had a chance to build up a new, progressive Democratic organization in New York.

But the President delayed, out of deference to Jim Farley. The governorship of New York is one of the most important springboards to the presidency, and Roosevelt did not want to commit himself.

The issue finally came to a head last week with Bob Jackson's two fighting speeches and the publication of an editorial in The Washington Times urging the President to come out in the open regarding the governorship.

At a meeting of two or three Roosevelt advisers immediately afterward, this editorial was brought up. Turning to Farley, the President said: "What do you think about it, Jim?"

"Bob Jackson's our best candidate," was the immediate reply from the man who had wanted to be governor.

Note—There was good reason behind the vehement kick-backs of Senator Copeland and Representative John O'Connor against the Bob Jackson speeches. Good Tammany Democrats, both knew Roosevelt's nomination of Jackson, a progressive Democrat, meant a further blow to the already feeble Tiger—and to them.

VIRGIN GOVERNOR
Here is the latest story told on Secretary of the Interior Ickes.

Lawrence Cramer, youthful, unimpressive-looking governor of the Virgin Islands, came to call on Ickes, gave his name to the doorman merely as "Cramer," sat down to wait. Thirty minutes passed, then forty-five. The young governor concluded that he had not made his name and position clear. So he approached the doorman and explained that he was the governor of the Virgin Islands.

Flustered, the doorman picked up the telephone "Mr. Secretary," he said, "there's a virgin here from Governor's island."

MORGAN CRACK-DOWN
Behind Senator Norris' resolution for an investigation of TVA and the utilities which have been fighting it is a Norris and administration move to crack down on TVA Chairman Arthur E. Morgan.

The inner circle is irked at Morgan for his persistent feuding with the other two board members and particularly for his recent series of articles attacking key features of New Deal power policy. Possible courses of action against him were discussed recently with the senator from Nebraska.

At first Norris felt that an investigation of TVA was unnecessary. However, he too is so angry with Morgan that he finally agreed to this drastic action. Last summer Norris went so far as to advise the President to ask for Morgan's resignation. Morgan had threatened to quit if Roosevelt reappointed Director David Lilienthal, but had backed down when Roosevelt ignored his ultimatum.

PRECAUTIONS
When the treasury issued the President's silver-price proclamation, it took as many precautions as a dog has fleas. This is how it handled the document: Mimeographed copies were given reporters at 6 p. m. with instructions that no story was to be sent over press association wires before 8 a. m., or appear in newspapers that went on sale before 9 a. m., and that no senators or congressmen were to be asked for comment until 9 a. m. Note—At least two senators from silver-producing states knew the contents of the proclamation before the 9 o'clock deadline (Copyright, 1938)

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag.

OBsolete ECONOMICS

To the Editor: President Roosevelt's address to the congress was pronounced by the press to be a strong speech, a fighting speech, etc., but what solution did it offer to the ills of the nation? He said, in truth, that the unemployed must be given work and to reach this objective he served notice upon the employers that there must be an increase in their pay-rolls and a failure to meet this responsibility will be regarded as inimical to good citizenship. In reply they stated in effect, you cannot compel us to do the impossible; and so the nation stands at stale-mate while unemployment increases and hunger stalks abroad throughout the land. Is there so much of a brighter future? There is a bill now before the congress that points the way for prosperity for all. It says, let the old folks retire from competition in the labor market, pay them a living wage to distribute the nation's wealth in an equitable manner so that all may be benefited. Give the work to the younger generation and both labor and wages will be regulated by the natural law of supply and demand. Such a law will create affluence instead of poverty, dispel the fear of suffering in old age, prolong life, reduce crime, close our poor-houses, give hope to the young, create a better and more loyal citizenship, enable our government both national and local to build school houses instead of penitentiaries and distribute the blessings of humanity throughout the land. Nero fiddled while Rome burned, and our national representatives waste their time in idle argument utterly indifferent to the plea of millions of voters to pass the Townsend bill.

We have come to the parting of the ways. We see no hope for a better future under the present economic system. It is obsolete, a relic of a past era fit only for the scrapheap and should be relegated there together with our political fossils who are unable to keep step with the progress of a great nation.

EDEN OIL CASE

To the Editor: I noticed in the Green Sheet, in a by-line by A. B. Berry under the heading, that "Independent warns its readers against another paper which copies Green Sheet style," in which he states that the Eden Oil scandal is a thing of the past. Forgotten as far as the Independent is concerned, but it is rather interesting to note, first, that the Independent has been upheld in every respect. Also in the same article the statement that he, as the editor of the paper, also was arrested and thrown in jail. If the writer's memory serves him, A. B. Berry was arrested solely for writing and distributing a circular for the purpose of defeating a political candidate.

The Eden oil scandal broke in a paid advertisement in the Independent without benefit of either news or editorial comment. And at the trial of A. B. Berry and J. Frank Burke, the responsibility for breaking this scandal was very definitely placed on the shoulders of J. L. Akerman, advertising manager of the Independent. Prior to the "breaking" of this ad the Independent had been (to be charitable), at least unbiased, if not in favor of the person causing the scandal.

Enough of the past history of the Eden oil scandal. How any editor with the welfare of the community at heart can casually dismiss and relegate to the dim limbo of the past a scandal of such magnitude is beyond this writer's comprehension. The first round only has been decided. The decision of the court is not yet rendered; neither is the question of damages claimed by the county for various county roads. The writer wishes to commend The Journal in its attitude of this situation as well as wish them every success in the fulfillment of their New Year's resolution to print the facts concerning various county officers and officials and only say that the writer will eagerly look forward to reading these facts which have long been withheld from the public.

READER.
To the Editor: I enjoyed immensely reading Mr. Boris Staroelski's letter in The Journal of Jan. 6 on the Rugg text books. I think he is performing quite a service by helping people become enlightened on the real significance of the Rugg books. It was very glad to make his acquaintance as an exchange of ideas might strengthen the cause that needs aggressive action. Will he please call me? My telephone number is 1124. R. CYRUS.

WHIMSIES

DAY BY DAY
With O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK.—This will be one of those sleep-happy efforts. Like plucking the scraps from a rag bag and weaving them into something or other. And, by the way, the old patchwork quilt has been revived. Many's the beautiful work of this patient art I've shivered under.

As a logophile, I still delight in those classic old quilt names, patterns of which were known to thousands on farms and at country fairs. Such as The Rail Fence, The Thurn Dams, Young Ladies Rumble and The Goose Chase. Most popular was the Log Cabin, 21 pieces to the square.

How many family memories were pieced into those quilts! A cloth of father's necktie, ditto mother's wedding dress, Elizabeth's green party frock and Aunt Doris's best eaten. And always that bit of lavender plaid from little Patience's Sunday best, in which she was buried.

In the office of Kenneth Collin, a large department store executive, hangs a framed quotation from Ralph Waldo Emerson: "What will you have? quoth God. Take it and Pay for It." Anyone applying this lesson can throw away his "You Can" books and plow through the world to triumph.

Most people have noticed that Helen Keller is always photographed from her right side. When younger there was a question in the minds of friends whether or not to have a blenheim on her cheek removed and it was finally decided it might cause her mental anguish to tell her about it. The same council of friends persuaded her never to marry.

An idle fixie in the movies is the framed photograph. Always a huge fake taken front view in the best commercial manner. Never a portrait by Genthe or Steiensen, never a face with a soul. But a staring exhibitionist and always in a wide silver frame on the southwest corner for the movie star to snatch up and swoon over. This is what the movie directors call "Suggestion."

Beautiful hint: There's no doubt that even better than a nail file, the most effective instrument for cleaning the nails is the serrated edge of a folded newspaper. But don't let anyone catch you doing it. It characterizes you as a cheap Gelett Burgess call a dripkin. And is one of the subway pastimes.

A human reminder of a time when the legitimate theater flourished is the jovial millionaire Frank Vance Storrs and his black long black limousine with the snow white doors. When the Rialto had more than 90 theaters running full blast, Storrs had the program rights for all the programs filled with costly luxury advertising which he furnished to producers free. This revenue was the basis of his fortune. At top season today there are less than 20 productions on the boards. Many believe in another season or so the list will be thinned to a dozen.

Gag: Frank and Berthe Case were recently invited to spend the weekend at the country place of Percy Waxman, a well-known magazine editor. In the guest room and the bath adjoining Mrs. Case noticed several towels on which were unmistakably the Algonquin hotel mark. She politely pretended not to notice this and tried to distract her husband's attention, but there was no hiding the fact. To make it just a little more horrible, upon retiring it was discovered that the sheets and pillow cases on the beds were from their hotel. Not until they returned to their hotel did they learn that Waxman had connived with an assistant manager to borrow the linen for the sole purpose of shocking his guests.

My notion of high in jobs is that of a clerk at the newsstand in a large railroad terminal, such as Grand Central or Pennsylvania. To sit on a high stool with a commanding view of the swirl of crowds—there's an especial glamour reserved for travelers—is excitement enough for anyone, but added to that is to have all the latest periodicals and freshest newspaper editions at elbow. But one man's meat is another man's poison indeed. One of the fortunate holders of such a job tells me he never reads a magazine and scans only the headlines of newspapers. As for crowds, they make him sick.

NEW STYLE OF INDEX
The index of a book of famous trials edited by a well-known barrister was deputed to his junior clerk. It contained the following entry: "The Lord Chief Justice—his great mind, Page 212."

On that page, the following passage appeared: "The Lord Chief Justice said he had a great mind to commit the witness for perjury."—Edinburgh Dispatch.
